BYT juniors tell a scary Christmas tale

GHOSTS, SCROOGE AND THE MUPPETS!

RIGHT: The young actors who have joined the Bridgend Youth Theatre (BYT) recently performed their Christmas show at the Grand Pavilion, Porthcawl. They offered a mix of Yuletide stories, mixing up the story of Scrooge with popular characters – including Kermit and Miss Piggy!

Drugs habit led to spate of six town burglaries

AFTER becoming involved with drugs, a young man with no previous convictions, and from a highly-respected family, carried out six burglaries in the Maesteg area, it was stated at Cardiff Crown Court.

Ross James (18) of Maesteg, was sent to a Young Offender institution for 10 months.

He admitted two charges of burglary and asked for a further four charges to be taken into consideration.

He was told by Judge Philip Richards that "these were very serious offences. Heaven knows how much misery you caused to the occupants of those homes."

"I accept that things were difficult for you, but what you did was wholly unacceptable. I have a great deal of sympathy for your parents."

His counsel, Ruth Smith, said James had got himself into a "vicious circle" and was spending up to £50 a day on drugs.

Richard Ace, prosecuting, said that on September 28, James broke into a house in Greenfield Terrace,

AJ SICLUNA

Llangynwyd, searched six rooms and stole property worth £1,250.

On October 7, he broke into a house in Millview Estate, Maesteg, and stole jewellery of sentimental value and other items worth £600.

However, he left behind a DNA sample and was later arrested and made full admission. He told the police he had no money and looked for houses to burglarise.

He also said he wanted to help the police and showed them four other properties in Maesteg which he had burgled.

Since being arrested, said Miss Smith, he had not committed any further offences.

"He comes from a respected family and this is for them an alien experience. They are devastated but strongly support him."

At the time, she said, James was having difficulties with his life, including taking drugs.

Last year, a long-term relationship broke up, his best friend was killed in a motorcycle accident, he lost his job and he had problems with dyslexia.

"It was a significant time in his life and he was left without focus."

She said no gratuitous damage was caused at the houses, James had stopped taking drugs and had received counselling.

Police probe theft of £10,000 equipment

POLICE in Bridgend are investigating the theft of £10,000 of digital surveying equipment from an Isuzu Rodeo pick-up truck between 8am and 11am on Thursday, January 6, when the vehicle was parked on Fairplace Close, Bridgend.

The "Topcon 800A", is specialist hi-tech surveying equipment, with little or no use to anyone outside the industry, a spokesman reported.

Police are appealing for information. Contact Bridgend Neighbourhood Inspector Steve Evans at Bridgend Police Station on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Porthcawl council faces a 'protest' candidate in Newton ward by-election

A BY-ELECTION is on the cards for Porthcawl – after 10 electors in the Newton ward asked for a poll.

And a leading activist in the town who has challenged the way in which the Porthcawl regeneration has been handled is considering standing.

The vacancy on the town council was caused by the death of Coun Clive Hare. The seat was held by the Conservatives, but The GEM understands that some of the parties on the town council had agreed to co-opt to fill the position, on the grounds that holding a by-election could cost up to £4,000.

by JAYNE ISAAC

The whole council comes up for election next year in any case.

However, the request for a by-election means that nominations will now be invited from people interested in standing – and if more than one is received, there will be a poll.

The date will be March 3, which is the date chosen for the referendum taking place across Wales into whether or not the Welsh Assembly should be given extra powers.

This could reduce the cost to the town council, as the polling stations in Newton would be manned, anyway.

Graham Walter, who lives in Mackworth Road, has told The GEM that he was one of the people who got the 10 signatures needed from Newton voters to call an election.

"I was asked by people who live in Newton to get the signatures necessary and I helped with that," he said.

"I have also been approached by a number of people in the ward and asked to stand as an independent. I have had a lot of encouragement from residents."

Mr Walter was "thinking about it" at the moment and had made no decision as yet.

"I would stand as an independent on a ticket of fighting to get the Porthcawl regeneration scheme brought out into the open."

"It has been shrouded in secrecy, with nobody knowing what's going on."

"In my view, the party politics on the town council is getting in the way of probing the borough council for information and passing that onto the people of Porthcawl."

"It's time for somebody from outside the political arena to offer a different perspective. If I do it, it will be to bring new thinking into the town council."

"Too many people have been there for too long and are out of touch with the people of the town."

"They are more interested in getting their pictures in the paper than in fighting for what people want."

"It's time for something new and something different."

School Pool now available for community use

It has been well publicised that the Porthcawl area has no Council swimming pool, although there is a definite demand for a facility of this nature. Porthcawl Comprehensive School has recently secured a community focused schools bid that will allow the community of Porthcawl an opportunity to use the school swimming pool.

The pool is now available for hire during the evenings (5pm – 8.30pm) for associative groups, community groups, commercial groups or simply a group of friends looking for a facility to use to do some leisurely swimming. Local lifeguards have been employed to supervise these bookings and provide a controlled environment for all types of people to exercise, regardless of age or physical capability.

Hire prices start at £30 per hour which includes a qualified lifeguard. An associative group can book for a block of 10 weeks (term time only) and pay no VAT saving 20%. If there is any organisation, group, business or group of individuals who are interested in hiring the pool, contact Porthcawl Comprehensive School on 01656 774100.

'Yes to embrace future challenges for Wales!'

CAMPAIGNERS from Bridgend and Ogmore who want more powers for the National Assembly, are calling for laws that only affect Wales to be made in Wales.

The local Yes for Wales campaign for Bridgend and Ogmore has generated support from all political parties and communities across the county borough, urging people to give the National Assembly a stronger voice when they vote in the referendum on March 3.

Campaigners say a Yes vote will streamline the system, so instead of asking permission from Westminster to pass laws that only apply in Wales, Assembly Members can use all their time and energy making things better for Welsh communities.

Voting Yes is about looking forward not back. A Yes vote in the referendum in March will enable our Assembly Members to ensure that laws that affect only Wales are made in Wales.

We need a Yes vote to ensure that Wales is ready to embrace the challenges of the future, a country that is able to hold its head high and act on the international stage, as it did in hosting the recent Ryder Cup.

The choice is between a more confident Wales where young people don't need to leave their communities in search of jobs, or a dependency culture where we look to others for solutions to our problems.

The local campaign is fully established and has begun canvassing. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, January 20, at 7.30pm at the Garth Senior Citizen's Hall, Bridgend Road Garth, Maesteg. Yes Campaign chairman and Welsh Rugby Union chief executive, Roger Lewis will be at the meeting.

Everyone supportive of further law making powers are welcome to attend regardless of which political party they support. For more information contact tim_tom79@hotmail.com

Purple crocus is the symbol of Rotary's fight against polio

ABOVE: Bill Stubbs, the Porthcawl Rotary president, Rotary members and school staff after the bulbs were planted.

THE Rotary Club of Porthcawl has bought 2,500 purple crocus bulbs – the symbol of the charities fight to eradicate polio.

The club is aiming to plant the bulbs at various locations around Porthcawl, so that they will flower close to February 23, Rotary's 'Thanks for Life' day.

Pupils at St John's School, Porthcawl, did their bit recently, getting the bulbs planted before the snows came.

Rotary has succeeded in eradicating polio from most parts of the world, but the fundraising campaign is continuing so that the remaining pockets can be tackled.

The significance of the colour purple is that in the Third World, when a child is immunised, one finger is marked with purple dye.

HEATING WAS NOT SWITCHED OFF AT HOSPITAL – spokesman

THE Abertawe Bro Morgannwg Hospital Board has again denied that heating had been switched off in parts of the Princess of Wales Hospital over Christmas and the New Year.

Last week, The GEM reported that serious flooding took place because of a leak in the heating system in the short stay unit, Oasis Restaurant and the Bridgend Clinic, which is the private wing of the hospital.

A spokesman said that the heating had not been switched off anywhere in the hospital.

by JAYNE ISAAC

The statement went on: "This winter we have been experiencing severely low temperatures with December 2010 having the lowest temperatures on record."

"Investigations by the ABM Estates department and Welsh Health Estates show these temperatures have been lower than the temperature range UK heating equipment is designed to work in."

"Regrettably, these unusually low temperatures have therefore caused equipment to malfunction. This is very unfortunate and staff are working hard to make sure the effect on patients is kept to a minimum.

"Maintenance staff are also working very hard to repair the damage and replace the malfunctioning equipment."

The hospital has been hit by three severe leaks of water caused, the board states, by malfunctioning equipment.

Staff have claimed that heating has been switched off on all three occasions, but the board has denied this claim three times.

Councillors hit out at the Aerospace factory closure

MAESTEG councillors have condemned the projected closure of the Gardner Aerospace Factory in the town.

The factory, which is due to close within the next 12 months or so, employs 69 people manufacturing components for the aerospace industry. For many years, the firm traded as Midcast and has been in the town for 40 years.

It is being closed so that production can transfer to another factory owned by the company in Basildon.

Maesteg Town Council has been liaising with Ogmore AM Janice Gregory over the closure and she has been lobbying Ieuan Wyn Jones, minister for Economy and transport.

The company has received WAG support

by JAYNE ISAAC

over the years and further help was offered to retain the factory in Maesteg.

WAG officials have met the company's president to discuss the closure and received assurances that staff will be offered jobs at other company sites outside Wales.

Staff are being offered qualifications and new skills under the Re Act and Pro Act schemes run by the Assembly. Councillors have asked that WAG consider clawing back some of the grants it has made and members felt that the company should not just walk away after receiving grants to boost employment.

Mrs Gregory is to be asked to look into this.

Councillors also discussed speculation in the would wish to build a petrol filling station on the site.

HIGH TIDE TIMES (UNTIL JANUARY 20)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

While The GEM makes every effort to check the accuracy of tide tables, we recommend that anyone putting out to sea, or walking in an area where they could be cut off, should always check with a tide table specific to their location.

'Free parking the answer to town traffic problems'

WE have campaigned for the past few years for residents' parking or controlled parking zones, in the west ward of Maesteg, Llynfi Road, St Michael's Road and Upper Street, among others.

We have now received a letter from the Labour-led county council, that they will not look at this issue of parking; for the number of residents who have contacted me, this is no help whatsoever to those who are suffering parking chaos.

Disabled residents, and families with children, who are unable to park their vehicles anywhere near their homes, for which they are paying council tax find it is not always possible to park off road, with garages and driveways being obstructed.

There are vehicles being parked fully on pavements, causing problems to pedestrians, disabled people and the visually-impaired.

Maesteg loading bays, restricted bays, zebra crossings and Talbot Street are full of vehicles all day and late into the evenings, causing problems to the free flow of traffic.

During the recent bad weather of snow and ice, the top deck to the free car park was closed off by a barrier, put there by the county council. They tell me that due to health and safety reasons, the side streets were chock-a-block with parked vehicles.

The traffic wardens are no longer in existence, so there is no enforcement, even if we could get parking for residents only.

However, it is felt that these problems would greatly ease if non residents and visitors could use the FREE car parks in Maesteg town.

Council ponders Wildmill 'park and ride' plan

TALKS have been under way between Network Rail and Bridgend planners over the future of land alongside the railway line at Wildmill.

Bridgend Town Council has been told by John Duddridge, group manager for transport and engineering, that when the new railway halt was provided at Wildmill as part of the Maesteg Line development, it was intended long term to provide a park and ride car park on land adjacent to the station.

In a planning brief signed at the time between the former Ogwr Borough Council and the British Railways Property Board, the land around the station plus the bridge and the former Coity sidings were part of a development plan drawn up for the sale of the land.

A requirement was included for the purchasers to provide an area of land by the station for a car park and bus turning circle to be created.

But the privatisation of the railway network, followed by Railtrack entering administration, led to delays in the land being marketed.

When Network Rail, which succeeded Railtrack, did put the site on the market, there was little interest because the inclusion of the redundant railway bridge and access difficulties made it not economically attractive.

Meetings have been held more recently between agents acting for Network Rail and officers from the planning department.

Network Rail want to change the status of the site in the new Local Development Plan to one that has employment and housing uses. This scheme would include a park and ride facility.

A masterplan is currently being prepared and a traffic impact assessment is also to be provided to assess the junction with Coity Road.

Bridgend Town Council decided to note the report at this stage.

Action planned over car park boy racer problem

BOY racers may soon be placed out of bounds at a Bridgend car park.

Bridgend Town Council complained about youngsters driving at speed around the Rhiw multi storey car park at night.

John Duddridge, group manager for BCBC transportation and engineering, said that they were aware of the nuisance caused in the evenings and it was intended to seek funding to enable them to install equipment which would prevent vehicles from entering the car park after 7pm, while allowing cars inside to exit.

However, it is unlikely that the funding will be available for this financial year.

The problem of rough sleepers using the top floors will also be investigated.

Fayre raises £1,000

NOTTAGE Primary School in Porthcawl held a successful Christmas fayre; with numerous stalls, a special storytelling Santa, and the usual tombola, raffle and hotdogs.

They raised just over £1,000 and Barclays Bank in John Street, Porthcawl are again match funding the raffle, donating £750.

Young actors step into the spotlight as the Grand Pavilion hosts a sparkling weekend

PHOTOGRAPHS by MALCOLM NUGENT

PORTHCAWL'S Grand Pavilion played host to an enormous amount of local talent last weekend, when three shows, all connected to the Bridgend Youth Theatre (BYT) took to the stage.

On Sunday afternoon, the young BYT team (up to 11 years) stepped out to perform, and they were followed in the evening by the 'senior juniors' (11-14) and the BYT seniors.

The two shows had originally been scheduled for December in Maesteg Town Hall, but had had to be postponed.

The young ones performed a mix of seasonal songs and sketches on a Christmas theme, combining Scrooge and the Muppets.

The evening show gave BYT members a chance to show off a range of skills, with comedy sketches, songs and some extended dance numbers.

The show started with the 'All That Jazz' opening from Chicago, and kept the audience highly entertained.

However, as a reminder of what can be achieved by the youth theatre, the Saturday night featured a terrific show staged by 'old boys and girls' as a fundraiser for Nicky Phillips, who is going to the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama to study musical theatre.

The stunningly high standard of the show said more about the BYT and its legacy than anything else could. (See next week's GEM for a review of the evening).

Nicky, of course, has been a tutor with the youth theatre juniors for the past few years, and was the director of the Sunday afternoon show. (All pictures on this page are from this show).

Rugby player punched door supervisor

A CLUB door supervisor suffered a nose injury which has resulted in "a permanent blemish", after being attacked - it was stated at Cardiff Crown Court.

The man responsible, Owen Watkins (22) of Maesteg, who plays for the town's rugby team, was sentenced to six months imprisonment, suspended for two years, ordered to carry out 150 hours unpaid work, and to pay his victim £500 compensation plus prosecution costs of £350.

by AJ SICLUNA

Watkins pleaded guilty to causing David Thomas actual bodily harm. Prosecutor Tony Trigg said his victim was a door supervisor at the York Bar, Bridgend.

At 3am on August 22, Watkins turned up and was denied entry under the terms of the club's licence.

He became aggressive, said he wanted to see his girlfriend, and put his foot in the door. Watkins then punched Mr Thomas on the nose.

He suffered a deviation of the septum injury. When arrested,

Watkins said he was drunk, apologised and said he was embarrassed.

His counsel, Kevin Seal, said: "It is a tragedy for him to appear before the court."

"Clearly, he had had too much to drink and does not normally behave like this. He is a respected, hardworking individual. It was, for him, a very expensive night out."

Judge Philip Richards said: "Mr Thomas received an unpleasant injury which has caused a permanent blemish."

"Drink can be a comfort, but it can lead normally sensible men into serious misconduct."

"Moderate your intake and ensure you can handle yourself in future."

Hill and Alford then "stormed" behind him, kicked the pizza out of his hand and swung punches at him.

Mr Burlingham said he appeared to "go crazy".

He was arrested at the scene and claimed the victim attacked him.

The court heard that Alford had convictions for causing actual bodily harm, threatening behaviour, burglary and shoplifting.

His solicitor, David Sedgewick, pointed out that he had been in custody for 108 days.

"He has recently kicked a drink problem. At the time of the incident, he took part in a stupid argument."

Judge Philip Richards said: "You were persistently violent to a man who had done nothing wrong. It was a very unpleasant experience for your victim."

Man jailed after pizza argument

WHEN a man refused to hand over a pizza he had bought minutes before, he was given a beating as he walked home.

Cardiff Crown Court heard that Lee Burlingham was punched and chased.

Gavin Alford (28) of Blaengarw, was sentenced to 10 months' imprisonment, after he admitted causing Mr Burlingham actual bodily harm.

Prosecutor Sian Phillips said that on September 18, Mr Burlingham had a drink in Bridgend town centre and bought himself a pizza.

Passing the Angel public house, he saw Alford and a woman, and she shouted at him for a slice of the pizza.

He refused. He was followed up Newcastle

News from the Porthcawl Lions

"WE were very sorry that we had to cancel the Boxing Day fun run due to the weather conditions," said Lions president Ralph Anslow.

"However, the good news is that it's on again for Sunday, February 27, starting at 10am at the Hi Tide.

"This 38-furlong event has a world record of 24 minutes, 49 seconds which could well be broken this year," commented Lion Rhys Lewis, the main organiser, who can be contacted on 01656 772369.

Entrants can contact Rhys or look up the Lions' website at porthcawllions.org. The event is open to male and female participants and the fee for adults is £5, with proceeds going to the NSPCC.

Money raised by the Porthcawl Lions Club over the Christmas period with their Christmas grotto and annual trolley dash in the Cooperative store in Lias Road has been donated to Mencap, Porthcawl YMCA, and other local charities.

The junior section of the Lions Club based in Porthcawl Comprehensive School recently raised £150 for Young Persons Cancer Charity. Well done, you Leos!

During February, Porthcawl Lions Club will be meeting on the first and second Tuesday of the month at the Hi Tide, Mackworth Road.

Prospective members (male or female) are welcome on the night, or telephone membership officer Don on 01656 788583 for further information regarding the charitable and social aspects of being a Lion. DAVID RICHARDS

Work under way on Nant Cefn Glas flood measures

REPORT by JAYNE ISAAC

WORK on designing flood alleviation measures for the Nant Cefn Glas in Bridgend, is well under way, Bridgend town councillors have heard.

Coun David Unwin, who is also a borough member for Newcastle, told town councillors that he had received a letter from Glyn Jenkins, who is BCBC's acting group manager for highways and fleet.

Mr Jenkins reported that the scheme arose out of studies carried out in 2002 across the whole borough, as part of the Welsh Assembly Government's exercise to look at flooding issues throughout Wales. This would enable them to prioritise grant aid and funding. A project appraisal was carried out and sent to WAG in 2007.

The scheme proposes work to increase the capacity of the water-course in some areas, including enlarging culverted sections beneath highways, and providing delaying ponds and control measures to restrict flows upstream.

This will mean the acquisition of some land outside of the council's ownership.

The cost of the scheme was estimated at £1.4m in 2007 and work would be phased in over five years.

The appraisal was accepted by WAG and the scheme is currently awaiting the allocation of grant aid. Once that is done, it can go into the council's capital programme.

The scheme was reviewed in 2009 to ensure that the design is updated to current standards, especially with regard to the proposed replacement of a section of culvert at Greenfields Avenue.

At the moment, WAG is reviewing the way in which future funding of such scheme is made, in the light of new laws and regulations which arose from a review of severe national flooding in 2007.

A scheme to replace the Greenfields Avenue culvert in advance of the main scheme is now being prepared and costed and a separate bid for grant funding will be made.

It is hoped to do this work in the new financial year starting April 2011.

The rest of the scheme will be done when further funding is available.

AN AM CALLS FOR OGMORE VOTE TO BE MADE OFFICIAL

by PHILIP IRWIN

A ROW is still simmering after a Vale Council planning committee meeting where councillors voted to turn down a scheme to build houses at Ogmores-by-Sea.

At the December meeting, an application by Bridgend County Borough Council (BCBC) to build houses on the now-disused Ogmores Centre Trust was turned down by members - but that refusal was not recorded in the minutes.

The Vale Council planning chief, Rob Thomas, said that while members voted against approval of the application, which was being recommended by officers, the matter was deferred to enable members to further consider the application and to come up with suggestions about why it should be refused.

Mr Thomas said that it would be deferred until February's planning committee meeting.

Now, Vale AM Jane Hutt has entered the debate. She said: "I have already raised this matter with the Welsh Assembly Government and the Public Services Ombudsman."

"I have had a large number of representations from constituents who attended the planning meeting on December 16, and witnessed a vote taking place with a clear majority voting against the housing development to replace the Ogmores Centre."

She continued: "This vote should have been recorded in the minutes and I was extremely disturbed to hear that this was not rectified on January 6 at the planning committee."

"I have supported the local community council and residents in their valid objections to the development, and these were backed by the majority of councillors on the planning committee."

The failure to get planning permission is a blow to BCBC's finances. Apart from missing out on the cash to be banked by selling the land to developers, the council still faces a bill of around £7,000 per month to maintain security on the existing buildings at the Ogmores Centre.

Festive treats and a lost in the jungle talk...

MERTHYR MAWR WI NEWS

DESPITE the bad weather in December, Merthyr Mawr WI members managed to celebrate Christmas by attending the link carol service at Colwinston church and holding their Christmas dinner.

After the meal, provided by Jayne Morgan, the evening was rounded off with carol singing led by Rosemary Rowe and Olga Wolfenden.

President Margaret Batten presented a silver photograph frame to Jayne Jenkins in recognition of her 10 years service as treasurer. We wish her a well-earned rest.

At the January meeting, Margaret Batten welcomed Rosemary Williams, the speaker for the evening, whose topic was 'Lost in the Jungle'. Mrs Williams had spent nine months working in Paraguay as part of the pre school educational project which was set up by the Baptist Missionary Service in the UK.

A member of Hope Baptist Church, she was sponsored to train girls in Paraguay to work with pre school education. Using a large selection of slides, she described the harsh environment of a country with a history of warfare and an environment of jungle and desert.

She painted a picture of hard and poor living conditions and of tribes that have no contact with the outside world.

Joan Kelly gave the thanks. The next meeting will be on February 2 at Ewenny Community Hall.

Parking call at Grove Street bay

RESIDENTS parking in the new bay created at Nantyffyllon, are parking diagonally instead of alongside the kerb, town councillors have been told.

The Town Council paid for the creation of the bay at Grove Street. The old grass verge has been dug up and the bay installed. It consists of a grid with grass beneath.

Members heard that some of the grass may not have taken, but the site will be revisited in the spring by BCBC officials and remedial action taken if necessary.

Councillors were told that parking is being done chevron style with the rear of vehicles jutting out into the road and there are fears that a vehicle could be struck by passing traffic. Nantyffyllon members have now asked for the parking bay to be marked correctly so that residents realise that they should park alongside the kerb.

They also said that the bay was shorter than was agreed at a site meeting with BCBC, and does not provide as many parking bays as was agreed.

A meeting is to be held with BCBC to discuss the project.

Who wants to build what and where in the borough?

A PROMINENT local cancer treatment charity has been counting the funds raised in Porthcawl by different groups in recent months – and it totted up to more than £3,000!

Macmillan World Coffee Mornings were held in Porthcawl at the Principality Building Society, the YMCA (by Porthcawl Lions), and at Trinity Church with Macmillan volunteers from the Bridgend committee.

There was also a bucket collection at the 2010 Elvis Festival by students from Porthcawl Comprehensive School.

The Principality event raised £202.67, while the Lions netted £800 which the organisation topped up to £1,000.

The Macmillan volunteers at Trinity Church raised £911, while the comprehensive school students' efforts at the Elvis Festival contributed £912.14

Sports pavilion cleaning plans to save £100,000 are questioned

PLANS to save money by introducing mobile pavilion cleaners and making user clubs responsible for opening and closing the buildings, have been questioned by councillors.

Among the cuts proposed in the draft budget for the communities directorate is one to save £100,000 in the new financial year starting in April by bringing in a once-a-week clean at sports pavilions by mobile cleaners.

Clubs and users would become key holders and would have to open up and close the pavilions and would also have to carry out 'limited cleaning' in between visits from BCBC staff. But the research and evaluation panel, which has scrutinised the budget, regarded this proposal as 'high risk' and questioned whether the proposal was achievable.

It asked for more information about the costs involved and potential savings.

The community renewal and environment scrutiny committee discussed the budget at its meeting on Monday.

Other concerns raised by the panel include:

- Plans to reduce the number of cuts each year to urban highway grass verges in order to ensure that each verge gets the same number of cuts. This proposal is expected to save £50,000 in 2011 and £70,000 in 2012.
- Plans to reduce spending on cemeteries by reducing grass cutting. Members were concerned about the appearance of cemeteries as a result.

The department wants to eliminate the service subsidy and intends to increase charges "significantly" to increase income.

Councillors have asked officers to look at the option of eco-burials, which take place in the Vale.

- Reducing the number of black bags distributed to households to save £30,000 a year.

Officers argue that with increased recycling, there is less demand for these bags.

The panel felt that it would cause potential public dissatisfaction and should be introduced over two years.

Concert date

TICKET holders for Bridgend Male Choir's 50th birthday re-enactment concert, originally scheduled for November 26 and postponed due to bad weather, are reminded that the concert goes ahead at 7pm on Friday, January 14, at Tabernacle Chapel, Pontycymer.

Ticketholders for the original concert date are requested to produce their tickets at the chapel to gain access on Friday evening. The concert is sold out and there will not be any spare tickets available on the night

Hospital's flu plea: 'STAY AT HOME!'

A PLEA has gone out from the Princess of Wales hospital for people with flu-like symptoms to stay at home and self-treat – unless they have severe symptoms, are pregnant or in an at-risk group.

The hospital's emergency department saw a rise in the number of patients attending over Christmas and New Year with flu-like symptoms, but says that the majority of these patients did not need to be there.

Anyone concerned about their condition should see their GP, or contact NHS Direct on 0845 4647.

The spokesman added that, as regards Norovirus, the Princess of Wales is not experiencing problems with this.

Porthcawl's mammoth charity night is a big success!

THIS year's annual Twelfth Night Fancy Dress Party (in aid of the Sandville Self-Help Centre) at the Hi-Tide was once again a great success.

Three reception rooms were filled with revellers and the fancy dress turn-out was fabulous, with entries showing amazing ingenuity.

It was organised once again by Arthur and Marilyn Beale, together with Dave and Patricia Jones, who lead a team of supporters, too numerous to mention. The event was held in the Hi-Tide, courtesy of Geoff and Francesca Dower.

Guests and celebrities for the judges panel were: Gillian Elisa, 'Fairy Ffion' in the recent Panto at the Grand Pavilion; Alyson and Eifion Evans; Father Irvin Hamer, past chaplain to the Sandville; Chris Needs, Roy Noble and his wife Elaine; Cathy and Neil Poacher; Sister Gwyneth Poacher; and 'Dout Diamond', alias David Williams.

The evening was compered by Lennie Dee and Robbie Owen.

LOCAL INSTRUCTOR: 'IT'S A REAL PAIN'.

Learner drivers are now facing a nine-week wait at the Cardiff test centre

WAITING times for driving tests in Cardiff have increased by 50 per cent in the wake of the closure of the Barry Test Centre, according to information obtained by an Assembly Member.

Since the centre closed in March, 21 learner drivers in the Vale have either travelled to Cardiff for their tests or to Bridgend.

The waiting times at Cardiff's Fairwater centre rose from six weeks at the end of November 2008 and December 2009 to nine weeks at the end of November 2010.

The Barry Test Centre closed in March last year despite local protests and regional Assembly Member Chris Franks used the Freedom of Information Act to find out from the Driving Standards Agency the most recent waiting times at the Fairwater complex in Cardiff.

He said: "The closure of the Barry Test Centre has shown not only to affect people in Barry and the rest of the Vale but those living in Cardiff.

"The Driving Standards Agency said quite clearly in December 2009 that it had the spare capacity to absorb the diversion of demand from Barry without compromising waiting service targets.

"Clearly, they have been found out and the results of my Freedom of Information request show the DSA need to look again at having a presence in Barry, particularly as it is the largest town in Wales.

"With VAT and tax on petrol rising even further this closure decision will add even more costs for learner drivers as well as driving instructors.

"Plaid imagine that people living in Cardiff also won't be best pleased at having to wait longer for tests."

Mr Franks added: "Tory MP Alan Cairns failed to ensure that the decision to shut the Barry centre was reversed. It shows he has not got influence in Westminster."

by TIM CHAPMAN

Plaid's Assembly candidate for the Vale, Dr Ian Johnson, added: "There has been a trend, first under the Labour UK Government and now under the Conservatives, that has seen facilities in Barry close, with Vale people expected to go to either Cardiff or Bridgend.

"Recently we've had the police cells moved to Cardiff, the driving test centre moved to Cardiff and the decision to close the magistrates' court."

"These figures show that Cardiff does not have the capacity to take on the additional work from Barry, leading to higher waiting times for driving tests as well as the massive inconvenience and extra cost for learners from the Vale having to travel to Fairwater to get used to the roads on which they'll be tested.

"With the rate of loss of facilities, Barry is in danger of becoming a ghost town."

Local driving instructor Jim Stokes that the switch to Cardiff had become "a real pain".

He explained: "The waiting period in Barry used to be three to four weeks, now it has more than doubled."

The MP for the Vale Alun Cairns said the decision by the last government to close the driving test centre in Barry was wrong, and that he had expressed this opinion before being elected as MP for the Vale in May 2010.

Mr Cairns said he would be raising the issue of the long waiting times with the transport Minister.

He explained: "I wholly opposed the closure at the time, and regret the decision taken by the last government in 2009.

"The prospect of reversing that decision could have been more expensive, particularly when public finances are tighter than at any time in living memory."

"The recent data about the long waiting times for driving tests in Cardiff, only underline the arguments presented by me, the test centre users and others in the community who opposed the closure at the time.

"I will be raising the matter with the transport Minister, as action is needed to reduce waiting times for the people of Barry and the Vale."

The DSA argues that alternative test centres in Cardiff and Bridgend are within the "20-mile travel distance criterion" for people in the Vale.

Writers' Circle
BRIDGEND Writers' Circle will meet at 7.15pm on Friday, January 14, in Blandy Hall, Laleston, when Pat Forster will give the details of a murder mystery play competition.

The winning play will be performed in Porthcawl later in the year and will also win the Railton competition. This will be followed by a manuscript evening when work in progress will be read.

Plan to ban delivery lorries from Maesteg town centre criticised

MAESTEG councillors who wanted to restrict access to the town centre by delivery lorries, have had their knuckles rapped.

The council backed a request from Coun Phil Jenkins to bring in a traffic regulation order banning large lorries from delivering to shops during the day – possible after 8am and before 6pm.

Councillors referred to lorries clogging up the town centre during the day if they are unable to get into their delivery bays because of illegal parking.

Reference was made to the harmful effects of fumes on pedestrians from idling traffic and it was felt that the ban would result in a healthier and more vibrant town centre.

But town centre manager Rhiannon

Kingsley, on behalf of BCBC, said that preventing delivery lorries accessing shops would have a major impact on businesses in the town.

She said that highway officers were not aware of any such orders in force elsewhere and even if such an order were made, there would be no enforcement as police have withdrawn all traffic wardens. The situation would be open to abuse and not achieve its objective.

She said that delivery drivers who service Maesteg also have to go to other towns as part of their route, and being unable to come to Maesteg after 8am would have a huge effect on them.

The council has decided to ask county borough members in the town to meet highways officers in BCBC to discuss the problems caused by delivery lorries in the town.

COUNCIL RAPS MARKET OVER EARLY CLOSING

MAESTEG market traders who closed their stalls in the early afternoon of the day when the Christmas lights were being switched on, have been criticised by the town council for a lack of enthusiasm.

Maesteg Town Council decided to contact the market manager after adverse comments were made by visitors for the Christmas parade and festivities in December.

Councillors said that some of the stalls closed at lunchtime. There was also disappointment at the lack of response by shopkeepers to the Christmas window dressing competition.

The council has now decided to invite Town Centre manager Rhiannon Kingsley to the meetings to organise the 2011 Christmas festivities in a bid to engage more of the traders in the event.

The borough council's property section has contacted the town council to say that all stallholders are given the times when the market should be open, and these opening times are included in the tenancy agreements.

The council will be reminding stall holders of their obligations regarding trading hours.

Coun Bill May said they have all been told, but if it happens again, the town council will take further action.

Attacked householder now 'afraid to go out'

Kenfig Hill man is jailed after violent burglary

A householder was attacked in his own home when he stumbled across a burglar, Cardiff Crown Court has been told.

Michael Reid was so upset by the experience that he later said in a statement: "I am now a totally different person and I only want my own company."

He said he was afraid to go out and didn't wish to live in the area any longer.

Clifford Foster (45) of Kenfig Hill, was jailed for 22 months, after pleading guilty to a charge of burglary.

Judge William Gaskell said: "You don't need me to tell you that you have a deplorable history of violence".

On one occasion in the past, he said, Foster stabbed a man in his arm, severing a nerve and rendering it useless.

He added: "You forced your way into the home of Mr Reid and carried out a systematic, untidy search. When he came back, you attacked him with a hammer you had taken with you."

"This was a significant burglary and you even went into the attic."

Prosecutor Carl Harrison said that on April 22, Mr Reid left his maisonette home in North Cornelly and went for a walk.

He returned an hour later to find a panel in the front door was damaged.

When he entered his home, he heard his Jack Russell Terrier crying, went up a flight of stairs, heard a noise, and shouted: "Who the hell is in my house?"

REPORT by AJ SICLUNA

Foster, whom he knew, ran downstairs and struck out at Mr Reid with a hammer, before throwing several punches, two of which connected.

Mr Reid was also later punched in the mouth. Foster left saying: "I'll be back", said Mr Harrison.

Mr Reid's dog was found to be injured and property was missing. Food had been taken from the freezer and cupboards had been searched.

A gold watch, which Mr Reid had received from his father 25 years ago, and which was the only memorabilia of him, was missing, as well as a number of items of jewellery.

Mr Reid suffered cuts to his lips, and a back injury, said Mr Harrison.

When arrested, Foster denied going to the property, but his fingerprints were found at a number of locations there.

He was said to have four previous convictions for wounding, one of which had resulted in a five-year sentence, and for offences of causing actual bodily harm and affray, and of handling stolen property.

Hilary Roberts, defending, said: "Foster now recognises that he broke the law. He has had a difficult life, failing to cope with emotional strains which caused him to resort to drink and heroin."

"It must be accepted that he has a dreadful record. His intention in committing the burglary was theft, not violence."

"He is a mature man who must address his future"

RSPCA warns: 'Do NOT visit the Llantrisant Common'

THE RSPCA has reported a case of strangles, a highly contagious disease, in a horse at Llantrisant Common.

The people whose horses graze on the land are doing what they can to contain the airborne equine respiratory infection but people are being strongly advised to keep away from the area for the time being.

RSPCA inspector Simon Evans said: "It is common for some people to go down and look at the horses on the common, sometimes even to take horses with them.

"People are aware of the problem and are doing all they can to contain it."

"Our priority is making as many people as possible aware of the issue and the importance of keeping away."

"Although horses suffer from strangles, the disease can be carried by people, so it is extremely important that people, as well as other horses, do not visit the area."

Newton ward faces 'protest' by-election

Mr Walter said he had attended a number of town council meetings and he was not impressed with the standard of discussion and debate.

"If elected, I would focus entirely on the issues thrown up by regeneration and what's going on. I would not be interested in all the committees and other activities."

"The political parties have not achieved anything - it's time for non political people with fresh ideas to have a chance."

Asked about the potential cost of the by-election, Mr Walter said society could not put a price on democracy.

"If we let things drift for another year until the council elections in May 2012, who knows what will have happened? We have had years of drift, with nobody taking a stand in Porthcawl against what's been going on.

"We need three or four people on the town council, who are not aligned with any party, who can fight for the best interests of the town."

Mr Walter said that if he stood, he would have no party machine behind him and no funding to pay for an election, but he had received offers of help from residents.

"It is the people of Newton who want this election and they were not happy simply to see someone co-opted on by the nod. I believe that that would have been wrong."

Mr Walter felt it was wrong for the county borough councillors to sit on Porthcawl Town Council as well, because this had resulted in the town council "sitting on its hands" over regeneration and abdicating its responsibility to represent the people of the town on this issue.

He also challenged why Porthcawl regeneration was not on the agenda for the meeting of the town council tonight (Thursday).

"Council leader David Deere stated in The GEM in December that he would have an item about Porthcawl regeneration onto the agenda of every meeting so where is it?"

"Also, the town council had a representative at the Porthcawl Regeneration Forum meeting organised by the borough council before Christmas. We were told that there would be regular reports back to the town council from its representatives but again there is nothing on the agenda."

Town clerk Alison Leyshon told The GEM that the minutes of the forum were not received until this week because regeneration officer Andrew Parry Jones had been off ill.

They came too late to go onto the agenda for tonight's meeting but they would go onto the agenda for the meeting on January 27.

She explained that Coun Barbara Stubbs, who represented the council at the forum, had not wished to make a report to members until the minutes were available, and she would be doing that at the next meeting.

Coun David Deere said that the agenda on January 27 would include an item on regeneration.

He added: "I have also asked the clerk to ensure that this will be placed on every agenda of the full council in future."

While he supported the principles of democracy, there would be a full council election within 14 months and he feared that holding a by-election would be a waste of council resources, at a time of cutbacks.

BCBC cabinet vote to seek private sector partner to manage service

THE provision of home care to elderly and disabled residents in Bridgend county borough, and the running of the residential homes owned by the council, is to be hived off to a "partner" organisation.

The cabinet of Bridgend County Borough Council (BCBC) voted on Tuesday to accept a recommendation from officers that they seek a suitable partner to manage both the majority of the council's homecare service and its three residential homes – Hyfrydol in Maesteg; Brynycae in Brackla and Ty Cwm Ogwr in Pantyrawel.

The fourth home at Glanyrafon in Ynysawdre is to be retained under council control.

A full report to cabinet revealed that it costs £588 a week to keep someone in one of the council's own homes, compared to between £462 and £492 a week in privately-run homes.

This means that the council is paying up to £126 a week more per person per week for places in its own homes, compared with those available in the independent sector.

The cabinet was also told that running the council's homecare service, which sends carers into residents' own homes to provide essential care, costs the council £22 an hour, compared with £14 for independent providers – a difference of £8 an hour.

At the moment, the council provides 5,300 hours of home care a week to 830 users. This costs the council £42,400 a week more than if it used independent providers.

The report, from Sue Cooper, head of adult services, said that work had been going on to explore new models of service delivery for long-term homecare and for residential care services.

The savings to be made were now an integral part of the council's medium term financial plan.

She said that the Commissioning Plan for adult social care highlighted the need to look at innovative ways of improving and developing services, and to review the balance between what is owned and directly provided by the council and what is provided by external partners and providers.

Talks have taken place with a number of organisations about possible changes and there has been an acceptance of the fact that Bridgend, like the rest of the UK, faces problems with finance and the realisation that traditional models of care are not sustainable and tend to increase dependency in the user rather than maximise independence.

There is also an acknowledgement that the council needs to do things differently in future and that alternative options can be more flexible and responsive to individual needs.

Cabinet was told that significant work had already been done to drive down current costs, including minimising overtime payments, reducing sickness absence, reducing travel time and costs, but it has been concluded that while more can be done, it is unlikely to significantly reduce costs any further.

KEY MESSAGE
The report says that a key message coming out of the review of services that has been carried out is that it is increasingly difficult to justify the continued direct provision of all the current homecare services by the council.

But there is a business case for continuing to provide homecare in conjunction with health service partners which is aimed at rehabilitating and enabling individuals to regain as much of their independence as possible.

ALTERNATIVE
Alternative arrangements should be pursued to deliver long term elements of the homecare service.

The review also found that the current residential homes will not be fit for purpose in future. The money needed to remodel them is unlikely to be available to the council.

There is a strong case to pursue an alternative way of providing residential care at the three homes to drive down costs.

The report said that a "do nothing" option is not feasible or desirable. Also, an in-house solution is not considered viable, other than for some parts of the homecare service.

Three options were looked at and it was agreed that the only one that was suitable was transferring the current services to a partner organisation.

Alternative options could result in the closure of homes and large scale redundancies.

Transferring services to a partner organisation will give the council the best opportunity to deliver the changes needed.

But the report warns that this option will require a "robust and transparent" procurement exercise to identify a preferred partner or partners and could ultimately involve the large-scale transfer of existing residential and homecare staff.

The cabinet has also agreed to engage specialist consultants, able to give advice and expertise on these changes.

CONSULTATIONS
A programme board has been set up to oversee the project and consultations will be taking place with staff and users or their representatives.

The council hopes to save £200,000 in 2012/13 and £500,000 the year after.

Background papers presented to cabinet reveal that there are 1036 residential and nursing care placement in the borough – 137 provided by the council and the rest by the independent sector.

The council commissions 585 places each week – 455 of these with the independent sector.

The Homecare service falls into two areas – specialist services to promote recovery, rehabilitation, or for people suffering with dementia, and other services providing personal care over a longer term.

Out of the 5,300 hours provided by the council per week, 4,000 of these are to the latter category, with 500 for rehabilitation and 700 for dementia.

The report stated that the demand for these services has exceeded the budget for this financial year and has resulted in an overspend. This is not sustainable in the long term.

The council has already switched the emphasis in homecare onto prevention and rehabilitation, so that the demand for care reduces long term.

BCBC proposes to increase the hours for rehabilitation and dementia by a further 500 hours and take 500 hours out of the long term homecare budget.

The report adds: "It is becoming increasingly difficult to justify the continued direct provision of all of the current homecare services, based on the differential in hourly costs with the independent sector."

ARGUMENT
It says that there is a strong argument for pursuing alternative arrangements for long term homecare to achieve a cost per hour that is closer to that currently changed by independent providers.

The BCBC cabinet member for well being, Coun Lyn Morgan, has welcomed the decision to seek an external partner to run home care services and residential homes for the elderly.

He said that as a responsible and caring council, it was essential that BCBC offered a range of high quality services to meet the needs of vulnerable citizens. He said: "We also recognise the way people wish to live their lives in later years is changing.

We need to do this with significantly less resources, so we must consider alternative, and innovative solutions."

Coun Morgan said that working with an external partner would help ensure that the council was better able to meet changing needs and expectations, while also being efficient and sensible in the current financial climate.

He added that, at the moment, the council is going to approach potential partners to hear their proposals for a positive way forward. He warned that doing nothing was not an option.

He went on: "The quality of the service we currently provide is not in question but we are looking at the long term here and we know the way forward is likely to be through collaboration and partnership."

"I look forward to hearing some detailed options and the views of those who use and work within these services. Residents and staff can rest assured that this will be a robust and transparent process."

Foodbank is celebrating its first year in Bridgend

THE Bridgend foodbank has just celebrated its first birthday, and during its first year has helped almost 700 residents of the borough – including 300 children.

The organisation is part of a national charity which originated in Salisbury when the congregation of the cathedral started a programme to feed the homeless.

It has mushroomed from there, and is run by the Trussell Trust, which is a Christian organisation. There are now 77 foodbanks in the UK and they are spreading throughout the country.

The Bridgend foodbank, which operates from a shop on Nolton Street, is run entirely by volunteers, as are all the others and most are linked to local churches and chapels.

The manager is Gerald Manners, who said that the demand for help "went mad" over the Christmas and new year period, especially with the bad weather.

He explained: "We are essentially a crisis centre which exists to help people through a difficult patch. Most of the people we help have been affected by delays in their benefits arriving – leaving them with no money for food."

"We are also finding during very cold weather that people are having to spend more on heating – leaving themselves without money for food."

The charity issues vouchers to front line social workers and health visitors, which they can distribute to families or individuals in need.

Vouchers are then brought to their shop by the recipient and exchanged for food parcels.

These are tailored to suit the size and needs of the family involved.

"We give them a generous three-day amount of food which includes tins, dried foods like pasta and rice, sauces, tinned fruit and vegetables and long-life milk," he said.

by JAYNE ISAAC

"We also give tea or coffee, depending on the preference of the family involved."

This amount of food usually tides the family over until their money arrives or, they can return for further help in exceptional circumstances. However, the charity usually only helps the same people a maximum of three times.

"We are there to help them during a crisis but we should not be regarded as a free shop. It's to help people until the DSS or Social Services can organise proper support. But we are flexible," he added.

The charity has set up two satellite foodbanks – one in Cornelly and another in Bettws: "We go through local churches and in Cornelly, it is run by the community church and in Bettws, St David's. They provide the volunteers to man it. We provide the food."

The group is now hoping to open another food bank in Maesteg, but needs an active church willing to take on the responsibility.

The foodbank relies on donations of money and food and is currently considering the possibility of leaving food collection boxes by the check-outs at local supermarkets into which shoppers can donate food items.

"We collected a lot of food from the church and school harvest festivals last autumn. We asked people to donate tins and packets rather than fresh items which would be perishable. It was very successful," Mr Manners stated.

Anyone wishing to donate food can take it to the shop which is next to the Solid Rock café. But he made a special plea: "No beans, please. We could sell some of these back to the supermarkets because we have so many. Also we have a lot of tinned soup, so I would ask people to donate other food items at the moment."

The charity is also considering what to do about pet food: "Many people who come to us have pets who need to be fed as well, and that's something we should consider."

Mr Manners revealed that the food bank was getting busier as its work became more widely known. People who need help should not turn up at the shop unless they have a voucher. If they do, they are sent to Social Services first.

"We have to have some order and we cannot just dish food out wildly nilly to anyone who shows up," he added. "It needs to be properly organised."

If the group gets given seasonal food like Christmas puddings or cakes, they are distributed to people getting the food parcels.

"We have a shelf where we place such items and people are invited to choose one or two items themselves from what's available. It gives a little variety to what we can offer."

Mr Manners emphasised that the group was totally non-judgemental and help is given, with no questions asked.

"They usually have a cup of tea with us while their parcel is being put together. We try to make it a pleasant occasion."

The shop in Bridgend is open Monday and Tuesday from 10am to 2pm and on Fridays from 11.30am to 2.30pm.

On Wednesday, the bank in Bettws is open from 9am to 11am and on Thursday, Cornelly is open from 1pm to 3pm.

The group has its own website and Facebook page.

Choir recruits

CHILDREN aged between eight and 17, who enjoy singing and dancing, are invited to attend the rehearsals of Maesteg Children's Choir at Plasnewydd Primary School on Saturday mornings.

This is a great chance for them to broaden their musical experience; it will be the choir's 25th anniversary of their annual concert which will be held at Maesteg town hall in June.

The choir welcomes children from all areas in the Bridgend county borough boundaries.

Information can be obtained on www.cob-webs.co.uk or by phoning Aimee on 01656 734589.

Toddlers meet

TODU Primary School has restarted Toddu Toddlers mornings on Thursdays, 9.45am-11.15am, to encourage toddlers to socialise with others.

It is also an opportunity for responsible adults to get to know the staff at the school.

U3A meeting

A MEETING of Maesteg University of the Third Age (U3A) was held at Central Church Hall when the speaker was Dr Graham Humphreys, who gave an educational talk about his journey on the Trans-Siberian Railway, enti-ted 'Maesteg to Moscow'.

This fantastic railway carries travellers from Moscow via Mongolia to Beijing in China.

A number of interest groups have now been formed and they are proving to be very popular. At the moment, there is a rambling group, literature group, music appreciation, family history, and gardening. Other interesting subjects under consideration are theatre visits and languages.

The next meeting will be held at the Central Church Hall at 2.30pm on January 25 when the speaker will be Mike Clubb - his topic is the 'History of Bridgend Armaments Factory'.

The U3A consists of about 30 friendly members. They look forward to seeing all existing members and welcoming new members. Telephone Geoff on 07708 945393 for more information.

New group

A NEW support group is being formed to provide advice and information to patients, family members and friends of anyone who has had surgery because of bowel or bladder problems.

It will be meeting in the residents' block community hall of the Princess of Wales Hospital on Friday, January 14, 2pm-3pm.

Everyone is welcome and refreshments will be provided.

Correction

I AM sorry to write that there was an error in my article last week on the concert being held in the Tabernacl Chapel, Pontycymer by the Bridgend Male Choir, to raise funds for cancer research.

The correct date was Friday, January 14 - not January 15.

THE Cór Meibion Cwm Garw (Garw Valley Male Voice Choir) Christmas service, highlight of the choir's calendar, was held in St David's Church, Pontycymer.

Once again, the stars of the evening were a choir formed by pupils of the local Blaengarw school, which provided a variety of music.

A special mention must be made of Shauna Davies for an impeccable performance and sweetness in her voice.

The guest soloist for the Cór Meibion was Phoebe Ann Lewis, who beautifully sang 'Nadolig Llawen I Chi' along with the choir, her fluency and pronunciation of the Welsh language was outstanding.

The male soloists with the choir were Allan Walters singing the haunting 'Dafydd Y Garreg Wen' written by the blind harpist and composer David Owen, which tells the story based on 'Y Garreg Wen', the farm near Morfa Bychan, Porthmadoc, where he had lived.

David Rees sang the lament from the West End show Les Miserables, 'I dreamed a dream'.

The evening included the communal singing of carols, mince pies and mulled wine, and the draw of raffle tickets.

PTA thanked

MARTIN GRIFFITHS, headteacher of Tynrhoe Primary School thanks members of the PTA who raised a total of £1,001.13 in the Christmas fayre held at the Richard Price Centre, Llangeinor; with a further £92.20 raised from the sale of glow sticks at the community pantomime.

Class 3 are having swimming lessons every day for a fortnight, beginning on January 10. Can parents please ensure the pupils bring a swimming costume and towel everyday.

Inspection

OGMORE Vale Primary School head Paul Booth, advises responsible adults of pupils that school inspectors from IESTYN, reporting under Section 28 of the 2005 Education Act, will be at the school from January 24-27.

They will be available at the school on Monday, January 24 at 5.30pm.

SAFE ROUTE TO SCHOOL: critics are criticised

MAESTEG town councillors who complained at the December meeting about difficulties for children walking to the town's comprehensive school under the railway bridge at Castle Street were themselves criticised at the January meeting.

Coun Keith Edwards, who had not been present the previous month, said he was surprised to read in the minutes that councillors had raised this issue with the BCBC access officer who was present.

He said: "How can the council talk about children walking under the bridge at Castle Street when this council itself endorsed the use of Ferrier's Row as the alternative route and where there is a school crossing patrol."

"Children from the upper West Ward can go via Cwrt y Mwnws where the path is almost completed."

"I am amazed that councillors talk about these difficulties when work has been done or is on-going."

Advisor post

NEIL DAVIES, headteacher at Mynydd Cynffig Junior School, Kenfig Hill, has accepted an offer from the education and school improvement service (ESIS) to become a primary adviser, supporting the local authorities of Bridgend, Caerphilly, Merthyr and Rhondda Cynon Tal.

The position is a two-year secondment which starts on January 24 and runs until the end of December 2012. During this period Mr Richard Goldsworthy will become acting headteacher; Mr Craig Price will become acting deputy headteacher and Miss Helen Dennis will become teacher for Class 3. At the beginning of February, a PPA teacher will be appointed to replace Miss Dennis.

Following the secondment, Mr Davies will return to the school to resume his position as headteacher.

Mr Davies would like to express his thanks to the chair of governors, Mrs Greta Rogers, and the governing body of the school who have been very supportive.

He would also thank the fantastic team of teachers and support staff at the school, and all the parents who have given him tremendous backing over the past five and a half years.

There will be two afternoon sessions on a Monday and Wednesday per week. After-school clubs also started this week, apart from the environment club, which will restart after the February half-term when it is hoped that the weather will be milder for outdoor activities.

The fitness club on Thursdays, for year-3, will have to be cancelled for the remainder of the school year due to Mr Davies leaving to undertake his secondment with ESIS.

Because of unforeseen circumstances, there has not been a science club for the first two Mondays of the new term. However, the first of the year will start on Monday, January 24.

Community centre

FOLLOWING the Christmas recess, the Talbot Community Centre, Kenfig Hill, is again in full flow.

Last Thursday evening, 48 locals enjoyed a trip organised by the centre to see the fantastic musical Mamma Mia in Cardiff.

They are now looking forward to February, when another trip is planned to see the show Holiday on Ice, which is also in Cardiff.

As a registered charity, the Talbot is a non-profit making centre, which is owned by the community and run by volunteers.

It is fast becoming a popular venue for meetings (for any organisation), adult and children's parties, wedding receptions, wakes, craft clubs, Judo sessions, computer classes, luncheon club

(three times a week followed by bingo on a Friday), political meetings, a training centre with IT facilities and, of course, for their interesting trips.

The Talbot is at last becoming what it was meant to be, a true 'community centre' to be used by everyone. For details of events at the Talbot, ring Cheryl Butcher on 01656 749754.

Help for Heroes

MANY congratulations go to 82-year-old Mrs Mary Morgan from Pyle who has raised £120 from the community for the 'Help for Heroes' fund.

This was boosted by a further £45 from money collected at the tree she displayed during the Christmas tree festival at St Theodore's Church in Kenfig Hill.

Well done to this grand old lady, who still finds the time to support a worthwhile cause!

Rock School in Porthcawl

'THE Rock Club' will be held at The Green Room: 41 John Street, Porthcawl, on Saturdays and Sundays each week and enrolment starts on January 15-16 from 10am-3pm.

The initiative is being developed by members of Sustainable Wales Arts For the Earth Group.

It is led by community music-trained tutor, Raul Martin, who wants to take his five years of rock club experience from the school into the high street.

He said "This a chance for young people to escape the computer, get creative, make friends, develop basic music skills and support the green movement."

"Music mad kids aged 9 to 15 years can be involved in making music and exploring all aspects of playing in a band."

"There will be lessons, organised for ability, on how to play guitar, bass, drums and vocal coaching. Optional one-to-one tutoring will also be available and young musicians who are already having private lessons will be able to put the skills they have been learning into practice."

"Sustainable Wales believes music and all the arts contribute hugely to wellbeing, good health, and a more interesting and meaningful life" said Margaret Minihinnick, the charity's director.

"It's great that our high street office can provide the space for young musicians to practise. Rehearsal venues are usually costly or unavailable. It's time the high street was more orientated towards youth and culture!"

She added: "All artistic expression describes what it means to be human. Remember the old saying 'who has art has all'."

Places are limited and contacts should be made to 'The Rock Club' at Sustainable Wales on 01656 783405 to book places.

Llynfi Valley crime round-up

THERE were just two burglaries and only one car stolen in the Llynfi Valley during December.

These crime figures were given to Maesteg Town Council by Sgt Paul Thomas.

One of the biggest categories was theft (17) but this included incidents of shoplifting in the run-up to Christmas.

There were also six non-dwelling burglaries, which includes sheds, garages and commercial premises.

The biggest category was criminal damage (29), of which 20 were in Caerau, and there were also 15 assaults.

The highest number of offences took place in the Caerau-Nantyllyn ward with 43, followed by 21 in the West Ward, 15 in the East Ward and five in Llanygynydd.

There were also 84 instances of anti-social behaviour in the valley - 47 of them in Caerau.

Sgt Thomas said that the CID reviewed every house burglary and had recently arrested someone. He said that figures were low, especially for car crime.

He said that overall, crime figures were down and also incidents of anti-social behaviour were also reduced.

He added that police ran some initiatives, including one for shoplifting in the town as part of a borough wide initiative.

Asked about the criminal damage in Caerau, he said that there was no pattern and the incidents were spread out over the ward and spaced out over the month.

Coun Terry Mizen said that in view of the fact that Caerau and Nantyllyn still had the highest crime figures, the on-going presence of the police station was necessary.

He said that closure of Caerau police station could not be justified because of the crime figures and he asked what was happening...

Sgt Thomas said that the future of the police station was still under review but he said that if it was decided to close it, officers would remain in Caerau and would move into the former Blaenllynfi School, which is being run by the Caerau Development Trust.

He said that the same number of officers would be retained in that instance.

Town's public loo is open all hours!

PROBLEMS with the new 'Tardis' type public loo recently opened in Maesteg could not be dealt with over the new year period because the company which supplied it was on holiday.

This information was given to Maesteg Town Council - which has paid to have the toilet installed in the Llynfi Road car park near Wilkinsons.

Coun Lynne Beedle told councillors that staff at the Wilkinsons store had told her that the door was remaining open after people had used it instead of closing automatically.

She said that the door was open throughout one night over the holiday period.

Clerk Joan Fielding said that she had attempted to contact the company which supplied the toilet by telephone, text and e-mail, and had not received any response at all.

She said that she would contact them again once they returned to work following their new year break.

Coun Beedle said that the problem with the door was happening regularly. Mrs Fielding said that she wanted to get an emergency number from the firm which could be given to staff in Wilkinsons to report any faults that occur when the council offices are closed.

Coun Terry Mizen said that the service from this firm was not good enough. He said: "This toilet costs us a lot of money to lease and it was not a cheap option."

"For it to have been open all night is not good enough. Public toilets do not have a holiday and this company should be reminded of its obligations."

The clerk will report back to the next meeting once the firm has been contacted.

Members look backwards (and then to the future!)

ON January 4, President Jill Rosser welcomed everyone to the first meeting of 2011 and Toni Farrant jogged memories with the minutes for November and December.

Lil Merry reminded members that subscriptions were due and the county newsletter gave details of future events.

For those who wish to travel further afield, a

Gloucester City walk is on April 14. The half yearly council meeting will be on May 4 at Porthcawl, when the guest speaker will be singer and radio presenter, Beverley Humphries.

Whatever the weather conditions, the Lunch Club continue to meet every month and The Bear, Llanharry, is the venue on January 21.

Detective Chief Inspector Sally Burke was introduced, who shared her experiences regarding specialist crime and outlined her day-to-day challenges.

During social time tea, coffee, cakes and chocolates were provided by Joy Brooking and Rita Butt.

The competition 'My favourite Christmas Card' was won by Margaret Edwards.

The next meeting is on February 1 when the talk will be 'Welsh girls in domestic service'.

Maesteg children's home set to close

MAESTEG Children's Home is to be closed as part of a shake-up of children's services within Bridgend county borough.

The council commissioned an independent report, including an action plan, in 2007 to look at ways of improving children's services which was to be implemented over a three year period.

One of the key elements was a review of residential provision and of the needs of children in residential care.

The review recommended that the three remaining children's homes in the borough be re-designated to provide an emergency and assessment facility, a complex needs unit and a transition unit.

But last June, the cabinet accepted the findings of a further feasibility study which found there was no need for an emergency assessment unit as there was alternative provision.

But it said that two of the homes should be re-designated to provide a complex needs unit and a transition unit.

A team was appointed to investigate and this is proposing that the transition unit be located at Cartrefle in Bridgend. The central location is ideal for young people wishing to attend college or have work placements as well as needing access to after care and other services. There are also good transport links.

The building only needs minor adaptations. The two other homes in Maesteg and Porthcawl were not considered suitable for this unit.

The review has recommended that the complex needs unit should be located in Porthcawl rather than Maesteg.

The report said that Pant Morfa in Porthcawl was in a pleasant area near the beach. The building was considered large enough to accommodate the numbers of children and young people in need of such a residential placement with the space necessary for extra facilities.

The premises are in a good state of repair and would only need redecoration.

The report stated that the home in Maesteg, which is in Brookfield Road, has a homely atmosphere and good links with the community.

The accommodation is slightly too small to meet anticipated needs for a complex needs unit and there is no room to provide other services. A parking area would also have to be provided on adjoining land at a cost of £20,000.

Both properties are in similar states of repair and have the same resale value, but there is no room in Maesteg for staff from the council and partner agencies to carry out therapies.

Pant Morfa does have this space.

The cabinet was asked on Tuesday to approve Pant Morfa as the location of the complex needs unit and that Maesteg be closed as a children's home. This was agreed.

The surplus property in Maesteg will be considered for alternative uses or for sale.

PACT meeting raises priorities

THE Pyle and Cefn Cribwr PACT meeting was held recently at the Talbot Community Centre, when priorities raised were graffiti at St David Mews, Kenfig Hill; parking issues at Pysgah St, Kenfig Hill and speeding at Heol Mostyn/Marshfield Ave, Pyle.

PCSO Jon Howe reported Pyle & Cefn Cribwr NPT carried out a speeding operation across the area, with seven warnings issued to drivers over the three night period.

Over 500 vehicles were checked for speed over three days and only seven were deemed fast enough to warrant further action.

"Speeding in the area is a problem that we will never be able to completely eradicate but we will continue to carry out these operations whenever we can," he promised.

Pencoed under-9s have two close encounters

THIS was another great result for Pencoed under-9s, who from the whistle were winning the breakdown.

Only the quality of a very strong Cowbridge side kept the home side out. In fact, the visitors put up a dogged defence before putting together some excellent passing moves and only strong tackling, from Owain Johns backed by Thomas and Rhys Bending kept the score sheet blank.

Flyer Tyrone Harding flew down the wing to open the scoring. Mikey Bosley used his strength to crash through the Cowbridge three-quarters and Sam Costelow converted.

Cowbridge have quality players and they showed their class with some great handling for an excellent try which was quickly converted.

For Pencoed, Jonathan Carr broke away with elusive running and went over for the third. Mikey Bosley converted and the home side thought the game was won - but Cowbridge never gave up and just before the whistle they ran in their second try, which was converted.

A nail-biting final minute saw them attack time after time but Cael Chamberlain, Josh Ward, Oliver Lewis and Rhys Spurgeon led the defence to hold out for a great win. Man of the match Owain Johns.

Final score: Pencoed 19 Cowbridge 14.

The line up changed for a second game, but the quality of these two teams was again on display from the whistle.

Sam Costelow now began to dictate the play and ran in a great individual try. Owain Johns converted. Robbie Griffiths and Jack Rowlands dominated the breakdown and Ioan Richards and Ethan Davies kept the attacks going forward with excellent pick and drives through the heart of the visitors defence.

Will Jervis showed his pace and off-loaded to supporting runner Oliver Lewis, who beat several challenges to go over for Pencoed's second Ethan Davies converted and again the home side felt in control.

However, the visitors increased the intensity of their tackling and took control of the breakdown area, resulting in a well-deserved try. From the restart, Cowbridge attacked in waves and were now taking charge.

They put together a great switch move to break Pencoed's defence to set up another tense finish. It was all square at 14-all.

The home crowd were on edge as Cowbridge were five metres out, but Pencoed won the ball and a great crash ball saw Josh Ward break the tackle and run the length of the field for the home side's third try. Jonathan Carr converted.

Final score: Pencoed 21 Cowbridge 14.

A crowd-pleasing display of quality rugby from both sides and Pencoed's winning streak goes on. Man of the match went to Ioan Richards.

Team: Mikey Bosley, Owain Johns, Jack Rowlands, Ioan Richards, Josh Ward, Rhys Spurgeon, Thomas and Rhys Bending, Jonathan Carr, Tyrone Harding, Oliver Lewis, Sam Costelow, Ben Sullivan, Ethan Davies, Will Jervis, Cael Chamberlain. MB

ON Sunday, January 9, a vintage tractor event was held in the Vale.

It started in Arthur John's Cowbridge yard at 10.30am and was in aid of the Ty Hafan hospice at Sully. The tractor owners, who hailed from Bridgend county borough, the Vale, Chepstow and Monmouth, travelled through the Vale to Llyswoerney and Colwinston, finishing at Llanmaes.

As Glyn Evans' photographs of the day show, the biggest challenge was going through the flooded ford at Castle-upon-Alun.

It looked shallower on the riverbank!

Pencoed defeat Gwent visitors

PENCOED under-14s were up against Caerleon on the weekend.

The game started well for Caerleon as they scored the first try of the day, followed by a successful conversion but the Pencoed pack fought back and Chris Cooper got over the try line for Pencoed's first try of the game, which he converted.

Pencoed were then awarded a penalty, and Jac Briggs took advantage.

However, Caerleon came back with another try and conversion, and Pencoed responded, with good passing putting Daniel Maiden almost to the try line. He looked for support and captain Morgan Jefferies was there to drop over the line for Pencoed's second try, which was converted by Alex King.

Jason Clatworthy scored Pencoed's final try of the day for a scoreline of 22 - 14 to Pencoed.

Squad: James Merchant, Jac Briggs, Josh Maunder, Scott Ewing, Morgan Jefferies, Owain Clarke, Aled Barghery, Daniel Maiden, James Whittaker, Jonathan Clatworthy, Christopher Cooper, Alex King, Jason Clatworthy, Jamie Dyer, Jordan Fox, Will Sellars, Joe Watkins, Lewis Brennan and Jacob Charles.

Man is convicted after Christie Tyler lead theft

A POLICE helicopter and dog handlers were called in when a man fled in the Bridgend area, after stealing lead from a factory roof.

Unemployed Jonathan Davies (31) of Bridgend, eventually handed himself into the police and "fully admitted stealing the metal", said prosecutor Sian Phillips at Cardiff Crown Court. Davies went on to say that he had intended selling the lead at £1 per kilo.

Davies had been convicted by Vale Magistrates of a charge of theft and was committed to the Crown Court for sentence.

He was made subject to a 12-month community order involving a supervision order for the same period, and directed to undertake 80 hours unpaid work and to pay costs of £325.

Judge Philip Richards said: "The problem of metal theft is increasing in our society and it is not unknown for it to be linked to the use of drugs."

"In some cases, it can cause great distress to the victims. The factory concerned was seemingly derelict."

Ms Phillips said that on November 21, with four others, Davies stole lead, the value unknown, from the disused Christie Tyler furniture factory near Bridgend.

"It has been disused for several years, and over the previous months had been subject to theft and criminal damage," she said.

A police officer arrived at the scene and found a gap in the fence.

He noticed one man placing plastic bags into a white van. Inside the factory, he saw three men carrying rolls of lead.

"He heard shouting from the roof, from which lead was being thrown, and saw the defendant and told him to come down and join the others. He walked off and disappeared," he said.

The amount of lead involved was "considerable".

Davies' counsel Meirion Davies said: "He was arrested after presenting himself to the police. In the background, there was a drugs problem which he has tried to address."

Acrylics art demo

TODAY, January 13, at 7pm in Old Hall, on Cowbridge High Street, Arnold Lowry will give a demonstration using acrylics, to the town's Art Society.

Next Thursday, January 20, at 7pm in the Old Hall, Brian Shambles, a local artist, will be returning to give a demonstration on water-colours.

As always, non-members are welcome to attend.

THIEVES STEAL CHURCH GATES IN THE NIGHT

by PHILIP IRWIN

A PORTHCRAWL church is counting the cost after two pairs of gates were stolen recently.

The gates were taken during the night from the Tabernacle Church, in Fenton Place, Porthcawl.

Rapidly-rising prices in the scrap metal market are thought to have been the reason for the theft.

"For the church, however, it was about more than just the value of the metal.

The church secretary, Tom Price, explained: "The main gates had been there for some time, but the side gates had only been there for two years.

"They were installed as a memorial to Deacon Islwyn Edmunds, and I know this has been very upsetting for his family."

Mr Price continued: "We were able to supply the police with photographs of the stolen gates, but it will be a matter of luck if they are found.

"The cost is likely to be around £2,500."

He added that when the gates were replaced, they would be fitted with anti-theft devices." ABOVE: The main gates are gone at the Tabernacle Church in Porthcawl.

Porthcawl under-16s shake off the Christmas cobwebs

PORHCRAWL under-16s had their first game of 2011 home to the newly-formed Dulais Valley Lions, who are made up of players from Seven Sisters, Banwen and Crynant.

Although there was a delayed start to the game, this didn't seem to affect the young Seaweeds and scrum half Conor Rees scored a great try, picking the ball up from the base of the ruck and racing in unopposed.

It was an opportunist try which caught the defence sleeping. Huw Mitchell converted superbly from the touch-line.

The second try took a bit longer, with both sides shaking of the cobwebs, having not played since early December. Lloyd Rosser Stanford scored this, using his blistering pace to beat a number of defenders and score a good try, which was again converted by Mitchell.

Dulais Valley Lions kept at it and were making things difficult for the seaweeds, who had to work hard for good possession.

After good forwards and backs play, Tom Bluck glided through the opposition defence to score a well-deserved try.

Good pressure meant that Porthcawl were always in control of the game, but there was no more scoring in the half due to excellent defence by the opposition. (Half time score 19-0).

The second half saw the same pattern of play, with the young Seaweeds having the majority of possession and territory but unable to take advantage. A number of substitutions were made by the home side and this seemed to lower the intensity of the game for a period.

However, after some good positional play and rucking Jack Williams was able to power his way down the touch line and score a try in the corner.

The final Porthcawl score followed three or four phases of play and some excellent interlinking between forwards and backs. An overlap was created and No. 8 Dan Evans capitalised.

He still had some work to do and after selling the defender a good dummy, he gave himself enough room to score in the corner. This was again well converted by Mitchell.

Not to be outdone,

Dulais Valley were able to score a consolation try which was well deserved for the effort they put in throughout the match.

One bit of sad news was that after making a bone-crunching tackle during the last play of the game, Tom Morris limped off the pitch. He later discovered that he had broken his ankle - we wish him all the best and a speedy recovery.

Final score: Porthcawl RFC 31 Dulais Valley Lions 5

Team Manager Paul Brown said: "Dulais Valley Lions gave a very good account of themselves and although rusty at times, Porthcawl were made to work hard for the victory."

"We are now coming to the business end of the season and have some big matches coming up, which the boys are really looking forward to."

Local expert Gareth is a one-of-a-kind advisor

LANTWIT MAJOR man Gareth Tregidhan has been appointed to head up south Wales accountancy firm Bevan & Buckland's financial services department.

He is the only financial advisor in Wales to hold the internationally-recognised Certified Financial Planner CM qualification, as well as being an accredited Later Life Adviser (LLAA) with the Society of Later Life Advisers.

Gareth's role will be to help clients plan their finances and prepare for their retirement, as state pensions and retirement ages get eroded even further.

He explained: "My specialisms are within investments, care fees planning, equity release and pensions. My aim is to help people who are close to or in retirement plan their finances."

"In this current economic climate, people need independent financial advice more than ever. We offer straight-forward fee-based services, so you're guaranteed to receive impartial advice that's right for you."

Allpump Services help customers to become more cost efficient...

IT'S all (pump) systems go at the office of Haydn and Eleri Lloyd.

At Allpump, there is always someone at the end of the telephone who can advise customers on any technical issue, whether its advice on buying a pump or fittings to filtration and water systems.

A spokesman explained: "We offer good quality pumps that are value for money and cost effective."

"Allpump is conscious of the spiralling cost of energy and is helping customers to become more cost efficient and environmentally friendly."

"Allpump has recently introduced inverter control pumps that use less electricity."

"Addressing climate change, Allpump can run heating systems on wind-operating pumps, where electricity is not an option, solar for farm dairies and heat from plate coolers."

"With the potential of the government introduction of NDZ in Wales, Allpump Services are introducing a slurry separator, which can be used in conjunction with the existing Allpump dirty water system."

"This is potentially a major growth area as legislation changes."

Pitman training – work at a pace to suit you

ONE in three adults in the UK regrets not having got better qualifications while at school, according to research by the Learning and Skills Council (LSC).

Pitman Training is one of the best known and trusted providers of adult training in the UK and has more than 100 centres across the UK.

Pitman Training courses are all geared towards helping people get ahead in the world of work – building on existing skills, developing new ones and gaining in confidence.

The Pitman Training method of learning is completely flexible. Unlike traditional colleges or group-based courses, you can start learning whenever you're ready and work at the pace that suits you.

Pitman Training is not just about shorthand and typing. Courses range from basic computer skills (for the completely terrified!) to advanced secretarial diplomas and accounting.

Before starting a course, every learner has a free one-to-one consultation with a learning adviser to help them decide on the best course for them.

Leanne Waring, centre manager for Pitman Training in Cardiff, said: "My own experience as a learner has shown me very clearly that we all learn differently."

"A classroom environment can be intimidating for some people. Pitman Training courses are all self-paced so that learners can choose to work at the speed that suits them."

"You can start a course at any time and learners can choose the study times that suit them best, working around their existing work or family commitments."

A tutor is always on hand to answer questions and provide support and encouragement. "You can get on with updating or developing your skills as quickly as you want to and then use them to take your career to the next level."

For more information please contact Leanne Waring at Pitman Training, Cardiff on 02920 342020 or visit www.pitman-cardiff.com.

Cylch Meithrin – opportunity knocks...

Cylch Meithrin Llantilltud Fawr
A new Welsh learning Nursery/Playgroup for pre-school children

Opens Monday 24th January at Western Vale Integrated Children's Centre, Station Road, LLANTWIT MAJOR, CF611ST

To discuss more fully contact Emma on: 07908 308294 or e-mail cylchmeithrinllantilltudfawr@gmail.com

Supported by the Vale Centre for Voluntary Services through the Kick Start III Scheme

HAVE you ever wished you could speak another language? Do you hope that your children will be bilingual one day?

In 2009, a survey of parents identified a shortfall in capacity for Welsh medium primary education.

In 2010, a group of parents with children under the age of four years of age got together to form a committee.

They identified the need for a Welsh programme for the pre-school children in the community.

This local committee of Welsh and non Welsh speakers will launch Cylch Meithrin, Llantilltud Fawr on January 24, 2011 at Western Vale Integrated Children's Centre, Station Road, Llantwit Major.

In the bright, colourful and spacious room at the centre, a new Welsh family will form.

Children will come from Llantwit Major and surrounding villages in the Vale to grow and develop their education and life skills under the Welsh medium.

If you would like further information or would like to discuss the opportunity for your child to attend a Welsh language nursery, please contact Emma of Cylch Meithrin, Llantilltud Fawr, on 07908 308294, or email cylchmeithrinllantilltudfawr@gmail.com.

PJE Solicitors helps the ones that your love

THE vast majority of people have not made a will – but everybody should! Why? Because the intestacy rules are unfair.

For example, if you are unmarried, your partner will not benefit. Furthermore, your children may not be provided for appropriately.

The only way to ensure that your property is effectively administered and ends up with the ones you love is to draw up a will.

You also need to consider tax planning.

It needn't be taxing – and drawing up a will won't kill you!

NEWS FROM THE FONMON APIARY

The bees stay active, despite cold weather

HOW well have the bees contended with the weather? The Met Office recorded the coldest December since their records began and I think most of us would agree with that.

On at least three mild days, I have seen bees active in one or two of the hives, and I am hoping to see more as the days start to lengthen and temperatures rise above freezing.

All of the hives were well provided for at the onset of winter, but it is the next few months when the bees begin to stir in earnest and consume the winter stores that will be of most concern to all beekeepers.

I do have a nucleus hive on site, which is showing much activity and that is very encouraging. The activity I speak of is not bees seeking forage of any kind, but coming out flying clear of the hive and voiding their bowels.

These cleansing flights are very necessary: if the bees fail to get out because of adverse conditions, they will perform the function in the hive and this can lead to the transfer of disease by the bees themselves as they set about cleaning their abode.

As a point of interest honeybees do not hibernate, they form a cluster (football shape) on several of the frames inside the hive, in the centre of which is the queen.

By using their flight muscles (but not flying) they produce a shivering motion, which raises their temperature and consequently that of their surroundings. Doing this and consuming the stores put by for winter should see them survive until spring.

If the beekeeper has done his/her preparations prior to winter, the bees will have received treatment for any of the various diseases that they are subject to and will have also carried out Varroa control.

These treatments will not in themselves eradicate all that is harmful to the bees, but will help them in their fight to survive.

I have not been idle over these past few months; much equipment has been refurbished and cleaned where required.

New items are being made because when the spring arrives and the bees become active they, like the tide, will not wait for you.

The apiary itself is being cleaned up and put into order; in fact, Barbara and I have laid two bases at the Dyffryn site, as they will be needed in the coming year.

These bases are paving slabs dug into the ground a little and made level. The St Fagan's site is also receiving attention.

Be prepared should be your new year resolution (beekeepers that is).

Learning about work of Bobath

THE first meeting of 2011 was held on Tuesday, January 4.

Thirty-two stalwart members braved the elements and had an enjoyable evening.

The speaker was Claire Brown from Bobath Children's Therapy Centre, Wales, which is based in Whitchurch.

The centre treats children up to the age of 18 with cerebral palsy. Each year, one child in 400 will be born with cerebral palsy, which can be caused by lack of oxygen in the womb or at birth.

Cerebral palsy is not genetic. Each child is assessed as soon after birth as possible and given a personal programme to enable him/her to develop to their maximum ability. The centre is funded by donation and fundraising events only.

Members were captivated by Claire and engaged in simple exercises to see how cerebral palsy can affect sufferers.

The monthly competition is an item from a country beginning with a different letter from the alphabet.

The letter was 'A' and the winner was Ann Fowler with a sandstone ornament from Algeria. The raffle was won by Su Colman.

Next month, the talk will be on The Restoration of Llandaff Cathedral – a topical subject, as it is 70 years since Cardiff was bombed. All are welcome on February 1 in the Lee Hall at 7.30 pm.

Expert advice so important when booking your wedding photographs

PHOTOGRAPHS by Mark Osman of Still Images

FOR most people, their wedding day is the most important of their lives – and capturing memorable images to be enjoyed in years to come is an important part in organising the big day.

Local photographer Mark Osman of Still Images says that with packages ranging from £250 to £2,500, depending on whether it is a small civil ceremony or a full church wedding with a large reception, people had to think carefully about what is right for them.

"As a photographer I always try not to be intrusive. My aim is to produce photographs that will bring back memories forever.

"I try to take the bride and groom away from the crowd for half an hour to gain some special shots on their own.

"One bit of advice I do give clients is to have a couple of meetings with the photographer and make sure they like not only his or her style of photography, but that they are the right person to be part of the big day.

"I offer a low booking fee of £50 and the remainder can then be split into three payments, the last one being after the wedding to try and spread the cost for the bride and groom.

"With all my packages, I offer a pre-shoot that can have a large white mount and the guests can sign it when attending the wedding.

"I have even been asked to do one of a couple in the sea – which was fantastic."

Mark can be contacted on 01446 678099 and welcomes people into his studio for a chat about their requirements.

LETTER FROM AMERICA

Need for the Vale to twin with Haiti...

I AM writing to endorse the letters you have previously received and published in The GEM from Godfrey Knight and Vincent Smith, regarding the potential of twinning the Vale or Barry with the town of Pignon in Haiti.

I am the friend whom Mr Smith references in his letter and I spent 12 weeks of 2010 working with the people of Pignon.

This letter is being sent to provide a brief glimpse into the conditions surrounding Pignon.

It is a town located in the central plateau region on the island of Haiti.

The town itself does have a political structure of mayors who attend to the typical civil issues that arise on a daily basis.

Pignon is receiving paved streets for the first time in its history, provided by the federal government.

There is also a co-operative effort being executed to provide a central water supply.

This co-operative effort is being worked out between the federal government and local non-governmental agencies. These activities are cause for great hope in the town of Pignon.

The daily living conditions are very hard. There are a few public wells located in town that provide water to the residents.

However, these wells are only opened up for public use a couple of times per week, to prevent their collapse.

During the days that the wells are locked down, the residents have to travel to the river and carry back water to their homes.

The river also serves as the place to wash clothes, water animals and bathe.

The recent outbreak of cholera demonstrates the severe lack of sanitation in Haiti.

The economic conditions are bleak at best. The current unemployment rate in Pignon is around the 75 per cent mark.

Most residents survive by trading whatever goods they can in a form of barter exchange.

The outlook for almost all residents is day-to-day survival at best. There is very little present in the way of sustainable economic activity.

Having painted a bleak picture in the above paragraphs, I would be remiss not to mention the vibrant spirit and will that the Haitian people possess.

There are smiling faces everywhere that you look, and a will to survive that is second to none.

I can't say that I see as many smiling faces walking down a street here in the US.

In conclusion, I urge you to give serious consideration to the humanitarian and cultural rewards of the proposed twinning of your area with Pignon.

Freeze means repairs at the Market

THE main entrance to Maesteg Market should be re-opened this week once work to repair the stonework above it commences.

The entrance down the steps was closed before Christmas after some pieces of sandstone fell from the Town Hall which occupies the building above the basement market hall.

A spokesman for BCBC, which owns the building, said that the recent extremely cold weather has caused the problem and one of the market's three entrances had been closed for safety reasons.

Specialist contractors have now been appointed to carry out repairs and the door will be back in use as soon as scaffolding has been erected above it.

Work was due to start as soon as the scaffolding is in place.

Traders inside the market complained that the closure of this entrance had deterred some shoppers from using the market and they said that footfall was down.

Harrowing tale keeps you glued to the screen

IF Danny Boyle was an excellent director lacking mainstream profile, then all that changed at the 2009 Academy Awards, when he picked up the best director statue for Slumdog Millionaire.

Since then, not only has Boyle's reputation swelled, but the director has been touted for everything, from the next James Bond outing (rumours which turned out to be false) to being the artistic director for the opening ceremony of the 2012 Olympic Games (which turned out to be true).

Having sat on the success of Slumdog... Boyle only now returns to the big screen with 127 Hours.

It tells the true story of Aron Ralston (James Franco), a climber who became trapped between boulders for five days in 2003. With his life slipping away, Ralston is forced to make some huge sacrifices in order to keep himself alive...

Much like the proverbial bus, you wait for a film set in a single location and two come along pretty much after the other, but while the Ryan Reynolds-starring Buried was a fictitious tale of a man trapped in a coffin in Iraq, Danny Boyle's 127 Hours, as harrowing as it is, is anything but a work of fiction, telling the story of how Aron Ralston's adventures canyoneering ended in tragedy.

In less skilled hands, Ralston's story could have been mishandled, a film where his trapping and attempts at rescue and escape are punctuated by dramatic devices that would have made the film far less of an engaging piece.

However, fresh from Slumdog's Oscar success and the realisation that, yes, he is a pretty special director, Danny Boyle turns in another visually striking film that looks massively impressive.

SCREEN TALK

Kicking things off with triple split screen and never letting up the pace from then on, the film is a wondrous achievement in regard to visual composition and editing, the early part of the film leading to Ralston's accident shot through with verve and panache.

Boyle's films have always bubbled with visual invention (the toilet sequence from Trainspotting, post-zombie London in 28 Days Later...) and here he seems to have swapped the Capra-via-Bollywood visuals of Slumdog... to something more akin to David Fincher, the camera zooming through boulder crevices and water bottles.

But as visually stunning as the film is, it is when it gets to the meat of the story that what it loses in pace, it more than gains in drama and tension. Shifting from the vibrant colours and fast cuts to something more muted and languid, Boyle never paints Ralston's predicament as overtly dramatic; in fact, the character is remarkably unconcerned at his situation, seemingly viewing it more as a minor inconvenience than an endangering experience.

However, at this point Boyle and Simon Beaufoy's script changes tack, concentrating on the character as his realisation that he isn't going to escape merges with the slow-dawning realisation that he is far too much of a lone wolf, unreliable on the assistance of other people and, based on his exchanges with two fellow canyoneers (played by Kate Mara and Amber Tamblyn), far too caught up in his own world.

Using his hallucinations, caused by lack of food and water, to take you out of his predicament and into dream sequences that tap into the character's psyche, concentrating on the girl that he broke up with, his sister's wedding that he isn't going to make, and all the people who have orbited his life, Boyle and Beaufoy plot a redemption for the character that takes an almost biblical twist with the conclusion.

Ah yes, the conclusion; by now most people will have read or heard how Ralston freed himself from the boulder, and the answer is yes - it is as visceral, difficult to watch and painful as you have heard. However, it isn't shown in an exploitative way, Boyle's camera cutting (pardon the pun) in and around the actual act - though it isn't for the faint-hearted, as the sounds of the crowd who I watched the film with attested to!

Given that it is a film that rests wholly on the shoulders of its main performer, James Franco steps up to the plate and delivers a home run in a turn that is captivating, engaging and wholly believable. His real-life persona of being a seemingly care-free guy bleeds into the character, Ralston being of the '...whatever, man' kind, and while Franco cruises the early part with charm and charisma, it's when the situation unfolds that he really shows his ability, handling his transformation from barely bothered to truly concerned with aplomb and subtlety, the enormity of his precarious position being slowly unveiled by the actor.

The film does lack a sense of urgency. The playing out between Ralston getting trapped and freeing himself never feels like a race against time or a man being pushed to the edge, even when his food and water supplies are low; instead, the character just seems to be biding his time in the vain hope that help will come. While it doesn't subtract from the intentions of Boyle (giving the character a chance to 'redeem' himself), it does feel a touch odd that there isn't more of a panic in the character.

That being said, 127 Hours is a sublime piece of work, superbly directed and incredibly well acted, and given the subject matter, rather uplifting - and, devoid of cliché, makes for a thoroughly captivating film.

VERDICT - Another success for Danny Boyle, 127 Hours sees the director create a piece of work that is a strong telling of a harrowing true life story, yet is shot through with positivity and manages to avoid the genre types of the 'rescue' film.

With James Franco holding the fort with aplomb, this is one film that will engage from beginning to end. Essential viewing.

Group enjoy festival delight

THE last month has been very hectic for members, with a carol service at Gilgal Baptist Church.

The minister gave a humorous sermon, which I'm sure signified the start of Christmas for everyone. We had our Christmas party, a sumptuous buffet prepared by the committee, and one member, Betty, won the cup for gaining the most points throughout the year.

Betty is our chief 'vote of thanks giver' and poet! All the members visited the Christmas tree exhibi-

We went to St Fagans for the winter festival, with everyone dressed warmly and carrying torches.

We tried to keep together but soon got lost and ended up meeting in the restaurant.

We meet the first Wednesday of every month at 7pm at Gilgal Baptist Church, Woodland Avenue. If you would like to join us contact Rosemary on 01656 783772.

Streetstars' invite is, 'Just turn up and get dancing!'

STREETSTARS are established street dance classes based in the Vale of Glamorgan and Cornelly.

The classes range from three years old to adult, and offer fresh and exciting choreography.

Recently, some of our Streetstars dance squads have appeared on Got To Dance and Britain's Got Talent, with two of our squads the reigning British Junior Champions and British Open Champions.

Later this year, we will be touring with Akai, Twist and Pulse, Nemesis and many more.

Streetstars classes are paid weekly, with no term fees – and there is no waiting list, so you can just turn up and dance – it's as simple as that.

For more information on our classes, telephone 07974 904181, or go to our website popstarsdancestudios.co.uk

Proof that community spirit is alive and well!

HERE'S an example of the 'older people' taking responsibility and clearing their part of Church Hill Close in Llanblethian, as highlighted in your front page article in last week's GEM.

The close is a popular choice to reside for those of a certain age but there is a fantastic sense of neighbourliness and support for each other, but especially towards the very elderly or less mobile residents.

Ron O'Leary and Iwan Lewis.
Resident Sue Bradshaw Jones, who took the picture, got stuck in too!

The Vale joins in marking 'Holocaust Memorial Day'

HOLOCAUST Memorial Day 2011 will be commemorated by an exhibition and a film premiere in the Vale – all part of the 'Untold Stories Holocaust Memorial Day 2011 – A First National Event for Wales'.

The Vale Council, in partnership with the Welsh Assembly Government, Holocaust Memorial Trust, the Simon Wiesenthal Centre of Los Angeles, and the Memorial Hall and Theatre Barry, have worked together to develop the programme for the event.

People from across the country were invited to share their 'Untold Stories' to mark the national event for Wales.

Art Central in Barry, the Vale Council's art gallery, is hosting an exhibition of the 'Untold Stories' that were submitted, including local and national stories, poems, photography, DVDs and art works.

Young people tell of their great grandparents' and other family members' World War II experiences.

Sully resident Eileen Youngusband also recounts her experiences as a World War II V2 rocket spotter, alongside many other, moving and fascinating personal tales.

The exhibition started on January 11 and runs to February 26 (10am to 4pm), Tuesday to Saturday.

'Winston Churchill: Walking With Destiny' is the latest production by Moriah Films of the Simon Wiesenthal Centre of Los Angeles. The film's UK premiere has been included in Wales' national event and this will take place at the Barry Memorial Hall and Theatre on January 27 at 7.30pm.

The film focuses on Winston Churchill's years in the political wilderness, his early opposition to Hitler's rule, his support for Jews under threat by the Nazi regime, his return to government, and ascension to the Prime Minister's office in 1940.

Free tickets for the film premiere can be booked on the theatre website memorialhalltheatre.co.uk or by calling 01446 738622.

At the premiere, there will also be the chance to see the artwork 'Journey Line' by conflict and war artist Nicola Tucker, whose work has been greatly influenced by the heartbreaking tragedy and horror of the Holocaust.

SOS appeal goes out to local blood donors

THE Welsh Blood Service has issued an urgent appeal for blood donors of groups O Rhesus Positive, A Rhesus Positive or O Rhesus Negative.

"The recent bad weather, combined with winter colds and flu, has seriously reduced our blood stocks," explained Dr Geoff Poole, Director.

"During the snow, we had a shortfall of over 1,000 donations, which we now need to replace.

"To rebuild our stocks we need at least 600 people to come forward every day throughout January.

"We cannot meet the needs of our hospitals without the support of the people of Wales. At this difficult time, we need your support more than ever.

"Our blood stocks are at a seriously low level and we are making an urgent appeal for regular donors to make every effort to attend their next scheduled donation clinic during January.

"We are also appealing to those donors who have not donated for a while, and members of our communities who have not donated before, to come forward and make a lifesaving donation.

"To increase blood stocks the Welsh Blood Service is extending the opening times of some of its regular clinics and is also holding special blood donation clinics across Wales."

High street raffle winner

Tony said: "I'd like to thank everyone who bought a raffle ticket throughout the year; if it wasn't for you, our events would not be possible.

"I'd also like to say a big thank you to Barry Town Council and Vale Council for our wonderful Christmas lights and event," he added.

FREE GIG BY VINYL EYES

THIS Saturday (January 15) 'The Vinyl Eyes', Barry's newest covers band, will play live at the Park Hotel, Park Crescent, Barry.

The band play a wide selection of rock covers, from old classics like the Rolling Stones, the Kinks, the Beatles and the Doors, to more modern hits from the Verve, Oasis, Kings of Leon and others.

It was formed by lead singer Ali Price, who moved to south Wales in 2008 from Bangor. Leon Hartley (on lead guitar) and Gareth Davies (on drums) from London and Carmarthen respectively, complete the line-up – along with local Barry musician Matt Blumberg (on bass and vocals).

The evening kicks off at 8pm and admission is FREE! For more information about the band, visit www.myspace.com/thevinyleyes

FREE MASTERCLASS

Your chance to learn from world class tutors in Screen-acting and Dance

JANUARY 15th from 2.00 pm - 5.00 pm
at Stanwell Hall, Victoria Road, Penarth
(Opposite Station Approach)

Participants must be 10 years of age or over.

ABOVE: Take this voucher along to the GEM/Ferris Entertainment free masterclass for the chance to win a term's free tuition.

FOLLOWING the great success over the last three years of the GEM/Ferris Entertainment Scholarship, two more lucky GEM readers – one male and one female – will be given the chance of a free term of tuition worth £155.

At Ferris Entertainment Performing Arts Saturday Classes the talented winners will be taught screen acting by teachers who have taught the likes of Martine McCutcheon, Louise Redknapp, Claire Sweeney, Claire Goose, Sheree Murphy and Russell Brand to name but a few!

Peter Ferris explained: "All you have to do is present your voucher from The GEM when you sign in at the free masterclass.

"You will then be given a badge to identify you to the teachers and principals of Ferris Entertainment Performing Arts.

"At the end of the masterclass two lucky GEM readers will be chosen by the teachers and awarded the scholarship.

"Other participants will be offered the opportunity to enroll for the term."

The former scholarship winners have been Jemma Birkett (2008), Elliott Ismail (2009) and Verity Campbell and Jimmy Webster (2010). Jemma, Elliott and Verity have just appeared in the film 'Audition for a Vampire' which will be previewed at film festivals in 2011.

The free masterclass will be held at the Stanwell Hall, Victoria Road next to the Padgett Rooms, Penarth on Saturday January 15 from 2pm – 5pm. Those aged from 10 years old to over-18s are welcome to attend.

The GEM Winter Pet Food Appeal

sponsored by

More than ever, our local animal shelters are under massive strain to home and feed an ever growing number of pets, that, for one reason or another, are no longer in their own homes.

Most pet owners treat their pets as part of the family and will even be including them in the family Christmas presents!

If you can help feed a sheltered animal this winter, please bring your pet food donation to The GEM in Cowbridge and we will get it to one of the local shelters.

Thank you, from all the animals!

IT'S A RAP, AS THREE LOCAL SCHOOLS COLLECT ANTI-BULLYING AWARDS...

Coun Tony Hampton with pupils and teachers from Key Stage 2 winner - St Joseph's Primary School in Penarth.

THREE local schools composed anti-bullying raps that were chosen as the top entries in a Vale Council competition.

The council's primary behaviour improvement team, asked schools to write a rap with music and lyrics, with the winners announced during Anti-bullying Week.

The winner of the Key Stage 1 competition was Dinas Powys Infants' School. The Key Stage 2 winner was St Joseph's Primary School in Penarth, with the School Council at High Street Primary in Barry as runner-up.

Coun Anthony Hampton, cabinet member for education and lifelong learning, and the primary behaviour improvement team presented certificates and cash prizes to the pupils to spend on items for their schools.

Coun Hampton said: "Many congratulations and thanks to all the staff and pupils who worked so hard to raise the profile of anti-bullying within the Vale by entering the competition."

"Tackling bullying is very important and it was inspiring to see such positive ideas."

"The entries were imaginative and thought-provoking and showed some real star quality!"

PENARTH COMPUTER CLUB NEWS

THE club's year officially starts in September, to match the academic year.

We often have an influx of new members at that time, so the period from September to the start of the New Year is normally used to help new members get acquainted with the basics (see below).

This time last year, Windows 7 had been around for just a couple of months.

Chris had looked at it, talked to us about it and we liked it.

Some of us started using it and it hasn't disappointed. The content of our programme was decided (as always) in response to members' wishes, so we started with a chat from our community police.

January to June gave rise to the introduction of some new (to us) subjects that are becoming more relevant to today's home computer users.

Here it must be emphasized that we make great efforts to present the talks in plain English. Technical terms are not entirely avoidable, but they are kept to a minimum and explained in straightforward terms as we go along.

Topics covered by Chris were the creation of a personal web site; the benefits of a home network and how to set one up without tears.

He insists that it is all very simple and straightforward and I am sure that it will be eventually! (We come to find out about it all, not for someone to do it all for us, so some effort on our part is right and proper.)

At the very least, we are able to ask our fellow members for further advice.)

We revisited family tree construction that these days involves much computer research.

Ceri introduced us to Microsoft Office 2007 edition and later to Excel 2007 spreadsheets.

We also brought ourselves up to date with the latest thinking on data backup to protect against losing precious information.

A couple of social evenings reinforced the friendly atmosphere and in July we had a well-attended open evening.

After the summer break, we re-started with an introductory evening and programme topic decisions.

The meetings since then were about staying in control of your computer and a long session about the hints and tips you wish someone had given you when you started computing.

Sometimes one talk naturally produces a demand for another, as when a talk that used a virtual computer gave rise to a talk about the virtual computer itself.

Our AGM will be on January 11 and after the brief formal business, we will be deciding how to respond to the needs of the members in 2011.

NEWS FROM THE PENARTH AND DISTRICT RAMBLERS

From medieval Cowbridge town to the Heritage Trial

Ten walkers, including one from the Caerphilly area, joined Rachel for a walk in the picturesque Vale of Glamorgan on Bank Holiday Monday, to celebrate the New Year.

They began at Cowbridge or Y Bont-Faen (meaning stone bridge) which lies on the site of a Roman settlement and was one of the few medieval walled towns in Wales and the remnants of the walls and towers are still visible.

Built to a medieval plan with one long street, it was divided into burge plots, a burge being a rented property owned by a King or lord, consisting of a house on a long narrow piece of land with the narrow end facing the street.

Leaving Cowbridge cattle market, they progressed under the fly-over and up a rocky slope which led them to an electric fence. Having negotiated that, the group entered fields walking past a wood at Beech Clump and across The Park which is directly in front of Penllyn Castle which sits on a rocky escarpment above the Thaw Valley.

The original castle was probably built by Robert Norris, who was Earl Robert of Gloucester's sheriff in the 12th century, and it is believed to be one of the first Norman keeps in Glamorgan.

The present house, built in the 1770s was remodelled by John Homfray the owner of the Penydarren Ironworks in Merthyr Tydfil, who bought the estate in 1846 and built the chapel which is now the parish church for the area.

Penllyn and is located just inside the castle grounds.

Homfray was also responsible for the beautiful woodland that surrounds the house, which in 1960 was sold to the Cory family.

Having paused to hear a brief history of the area, the group carried on across what used to be the annual Vale of Glamorgan showground and reached the church.

A stop was soon made to enjoy mulled wine from Liz and mince pies from Ann.

Refreshed, the group road-walked towards Vista Farm, spotting a llama in a field of sheep, before turning off down a winding forest track to join the road that led to Graig Penllyn. Having passed the Barley Mow and former chapel spotting gravestones along the wall, they walked through the village.

From the nature reserve below Coed y Graig, they went down a slope near Coed y Stanby woodland to join part of Valeways Millennium Heritage Trail, created as a circular route that meanders for 69-miles through the Vale of Glamorgan, where you can walk through 6,000-years of history and stunning beauty.

Reaching the road, they crossed and went straight up through Graig Wood, where so-far-sized cut logs made it the perfect place to pause and enjoy lunch in comfort, whilst gazing at the surrounding trees, leaves and undergrowth that were all dusted with a layer of fine snow.

Before they got too comfortable, it was time to tramp on to Newforest House Farm and along the lane to re-join Valeways trail that led through a pine wood where they turned south.

Passing an ancient enclosure, they crossed the road and followed a bridle path to reach Trehyngyll, passing the Jane Hodge Resort Hotel, across the dismantled railway line and on to the village of Aberthin, which has no shops but two pubs!

Then, taking a detour from the main road, the group followed field paths past Coed Lawn to reach the traffic lights and make their way back to Cowbridge.

On January 15, meet at 9.30am at the Barry Waterfront for a seven mile moderate walk in the St Fagans and St Brides-super-Ely area; contact Barbara on 01446 734686.

Rucksack badges, programmes and membership advice can be obtained from Pam on 029 2021 9102.

JOY STRANGWARD

RHOOSE WI held their monthly meeting on January 6 at the village hall.

Members welcomed the return of their president, Ann Harris, who thanked everyone for their good wishes during her recent indisposition.

After receiving welfare reports and the apologies of absentees, the members settled down to listen to a talk given by Jeff Collins, Director of the Red Cross in Wales.

After stressing the need for donors to give money, rather than items of clothing or bedding which are expensive and cumbersome to ship to overseas disaster areas, Mr Collins told his listeners about the role of the Red Cross in Wales itself.

Many had little idea of the amount of involvement in emergency situations, such as the recent bad weather or in social service care. Mr Collins said that the Red Cross and the WIs must work together to provide help in the community.

The final part of the evening was devoted to dealing with plans for 2011. Members were asked to vote on proposed resolutions.

These included: opposition to 'mega-farms' for dairy cattle; encouragement for the farming of daffodils to provide help for the sufferers of Alzheimer's; opposition to the closure of libraries; the extension of the Admiral nurses network for dementia care; and legislation regarding the use of cycling helmets and mobility scooters.

The final selection of one of these resolutions will take place in May.

Members were reminded that Rhoose will be the host for their local group of WIs. Planned events include a social evening in April, a tea party in July and a carol service in December.

Eileen Eeles won the month's competition and Ann Harris the raffle.

The next meeting of Rhoose WI will take place at the village hall, Stewart Road, Rhoose on February 3 at 7.30pm. Visitors welcome.

Planned events: Skittles afternoon at

Vale under-11s just hang on for victory

THE Vale of Glamorgan under-11s secured their second victory of the season over Newport Schools at the Old Penarthians ground last Saturday morning by 17 - 12, after winning a close encounter earlier in the season.

The Vale team started extremely well with Rhidian Lewis, Haaris Kahn and Rhys Durlucia combining well to feed Bevan Howell who used his skills to beat the defence from 30 metres out to score the team's first try.

Soon after, Haaris Kahn, Finlay Davies and Jake Griffiths fed the Vale backs once more for Bevan and Joseph Williams to put Harrison Ashby in space on the left wing. Ashby backed his own pace to round the Newport defenders and score near the posts, with Jake Griffiths kicking the conversion.

Newport hit back using their burly centre, who took some stopping every time he had the ball in hand, combining well with his scrum half and front row.

Handling let them down and from the resulting scrum the Vale backs handled well and put Ashby in the clear again to outpace the Newport cover.

Newport put pressure on from the restart and tackled well. A stray pass while trying to break out of defence was intercepted by the Newport centre, who fed his wing to run well and score near the posts. The try was converted to cut the Vale lead to 17-7.

In the second half, a series of penalties awarded to Newport made the Vale defence work hard, led by Oliver Rowbottom, Jack Roberts and Rhodri Hopkins.

They had to be alert to the quick thinking Newport scrum half who had come to life in the second half.

Again, the Vale were penalised for Newport to go wide and feed their right wing to score in the corner, while the Vale were left bemused at what they had done wrong (Vale 17-12).

For the remainder of the match Newport pressed hard but the Vale defence was up to the task, showing superb spirit in defence.

Both captains gave thanks to the opposing team, coaches, parents, caterers, Old Penarthians for hosting the match and to the referee, Mr. Steve Union.

Vale squad: Jake Griffiths, Finlay Davies, Jack Lee, Cameron Roy, Oliver Rowbottom, Sam Corkhill, Haaris Kahn, Jack Roberts, Rhys Durlucia (captain), Ioan Williams, Rhys Bradshaw, Harrison Ashby, Bevan Howell, Rhidian Lewis, Rhys Jones, Rhodri Hopkins, Joseph Williams, Ben Jones, Jack Little, Ioan Lewis.

Jobseekers claim prize – and a job!

LUCKY jobseekers Michael Mark and Jane Huxter scooped a prize and a job - thanks to BTCV.

The social enterprise group held a prize draw giveaway for jobseekers getting back into the local labour market.

All BTCV customers who started work in November were automatically entered for a chance to win a bike, a mobile phone or a digital camera.

A spokeswoman said: "Jobseekers are referred to BTCV once they have been claiming Jobseekers Allowance for 12 months or more. This could be for many reasons, one being barriers to work that need breaking down."

"BTCV assists with overcoming these barriers by helping jobseekers to engage with employers to offer 'Trials of Work', financial assistance, re-training and development, and by offering an EIn-Work Support, to ensure jobseekers manage to remain in work."

Coun Christopher Elmore of Barry attended the prizegiving to present Michael and Jane with their prizes.

SWEET LINFORD LOVES TO RUN!

The GEM is in partnership with the Dogs Trust to find homes for animals at the Bridgend rehoming centre (telephone 01656 724593).

This week, a spokeswoman focuses on Linford a three-year-old Lurcher, who, as the name suggests, loves to run!

"He is a very sweet, loving boy, and would love to live with another dog. He would like a quiet home, with someone who will be at home with him, play fun games with him, and take him for regular off-leash exercise."

"He is house-trained, and gets on well with

BRYNCETHIN MINI AND JUNIOR RUGBY ROUND-UP

Freeze is over and young teams get back in the groove at last!

Under-12s

Bryncethin under-12s dominated the first half with scores from Ieuan Davies and Christian Jones making it 14-0 at half time.

The second half saw Pontyclun break through the Bryncethin defence to score their first try, and shortly after, they drew level at 14-14.

The last five minutes of the game, however, saw Bryncethin sneak a crucial winning try.

Final score:
Bryncethin 19 - Pontyclun 14.

It was a very good game on both sides with Bryncethin just managing to win.

Man of the match: Jack Laddler

Match day squad - Adam John (captain), Liam Morgan, Ieuan Davies, Jacob Walters, Corey Rogers, Christian Jones, Morgan Howells, Jack Laddler, Connor Ford, Henry Clark, Owen Jones, Nicholas Morgan, Leon Sylvester and Sam Harding

Under-11s

Bryncethin under-11s were entertained away from home by Treorchy. In the first half, Bryncethin showed how rusty they were from not having played or trained for a number of weeks due to the weather, and Treorchy played good rugby taking a deserved lead.

However as the game progressed Bryncethin started to show signs of their earlier season form.

The second half started with a much more passionate display from Bryncethin and they threatened from a good break, but Treorchy counter-attacked and scored again.

Bryncethin fought back and scored a try by Emyr Watkins after good support from the whole team. They scored a second through hard tackling and support work, with Dafydd Evans gathering and going over.

Iwan Veasey was unlucky not to get a third try and Dafydd Evans kicked both conversions.

After a sticky start it was good to see a glimmer of a return to form. Captain for the day was Emyr Hunnam, and deservedly man of the match was Owen Hart.

Match day squad: Emyr Hunnam (captain), Thomas Brown, Jake Canton, Ryan Morgan, Ryan Lovell, Gethin Napper, Iwan Veasey, Dafydd Evans, Emyr Watkins, Will Pitt, Owen Byrant, Mattley Qhojeng, Sam Shakeshaft and Owen Hart

Under 10s

After the enforced break, it was feared that Bryncethin under-10s might struggle against a well-drilled Pontyclun side that had played the week before.

However, it was difficult to determine who hadn't played since November as Bryncethin dominated possession and territory. It was against the run of play that Pontyclun went the length of the pitch to open the scoring.

Bryncethin came back strongly with super interplay leading to tries for Tobias Hunt and Ethan Hopkins. Both were converted by Scott Ryall to establish a 14-7 lead.

Pontyclun were starting to find their stride now and managed to level just before half time.

The second half showed attacking endeavour by both sides and there would have been a lot more scores had it not been for excellent defensive work by players from both teams.

Pontyclun scored two more tries to establish a lead but Bryncethin piled on the pressure and were rewarded with a try for Aaron Thomas, converted by Jack Thomas.

Final score:
Bryncethin 21 - Pontyclun 28.

Man of the match: Joshua Thomas - An excellent display from Joshua in what was his first game for Bryncethin.

Match day squad: Tobias Hunt (captain), Daniel Osarigie, Aaron Thomas, Scott Ryall, Jack Thomas, Ethan Hopkins, Luke Board, Joshua Thomas, Finlay Mullens, Josh Napper, Morgan Stevens, Keiran Dixon and Rhys Davies.

Under 8s

On a chilly morning, Bryncethin under-8s travelled to Treorchy to play their first match of 2011 and we were treated to two entertaining games.

First game: Treorchy 2 - Bryncethin 7

With Bryncethin taking the kick off they were soon on the attack but they couldn't break through a solid Treorchy defence. Both sides settled into the game and the tries started to come with Bryncethin edging ahead 2-4 at the interval.

The second half got underway with Treorchy on the front foot and it was the turn of the Bryncethin defence to hold firm - and they did a great job, not conceding a try during the second half.

The excellent tagging was coupled with flowing attacking with plenty of passing and good angles of running. Bryncethin went on to score three more tries...

Bryncethin try scorers: Mike Gillette (two), Shaun Batchelor (two), Ifan Hunnam, Jake Whitefield and Rhys Cawley

Man of the match: Thomas Bassett for his great tagging and determined running.

Second game:
Treorchy 5 - Bryncethin 7

This game was a lot tighter, with both sides defending well. It was the home side who took an early advantage but Bryncethin broke back straight away to level.

With half time closing in, it was the away side finishing the stronger and the half ended 2-3 to Bryncethin.

The second half started as the first finished, and Bryncethin opened up a two-try lead that they didn't lose. Both teams showed plenty of promise in an entertaining game and scored some well-worked tries.

Try scorers: Miles Blakeman (two), Shaun Batchelor (two), Ifan Hunnam (two) and Jake Whitefield

Man of the match: Jake Whitefield for an all-round good display and try.

Match day squad: Ben Daniels (captain in game one), Hollie Morgan (captain in game two), Ifan Hunnam, Thomas Bassett, Shaun Batchelor, Miles Blakeman, Rhys Cawley, Mike Gillette, Morgan Hughes, Jac Jervis, Will Laverick and Jake Whitefield.

Get fit with the leisure leagues

FOOTBALLERS in Bridgend are being urged to sign up to their local 6-a-side league as they look to get fit in the new year.

The league, which takes place on Sunday at Pencoed Comprehensive School will see players given the chance to work off those post Christmas pounds for around £3 a week as well as being given the chance to compete for a host of top prizes.

Anyone who wants more information on the league can ring 0845 230 2340 or visit www.leisureleagues.net.

Scots lie in wait!

I WONDER if any of your readers could tell us if there is any truth in the rumour that several Welsh rugby team members have applied to get on 'Strictly Come Dancing'?

It is said that this is to keep them in shape after the Six Nations competition, and let's face it - it did no harm at all, to one Welsh player who participated!

Do I hear you saying: "It's better than chasing a sheep around the mountains in your kilts and wellies?"

Well, I'm not sure, at least we get fresh air and no "Brucie"!

However, you will have noticed how much Scotland has improved, so you know what to expect on Saturday, February 12. As long as you beat England on Friday, February 4, we promise to be gentle with you!

Oh, by the way, any of you are in our area, let me know and we will organise a get-together.

Tom Handy, Crieff, Scotland.

Tondu under-14s pass Glynnneath challenge

TONDU under-14s played Glynnneath and were the first to score.

A series of forward drives gave possession under the shadow of the Glynnneath posts. Adam Harris ran strongly and offloaded to Joe Jones who scored.

Glynnneath were soon deep inside the Tondu half and the forwards eventually made ground to power over at the corner to equalise.

Tondu scored next from a penalty five metres from the BRIDGEND Athletic under-11s took the field for the first time since November when they travelled to Pentryrch.

The early frost soon cleared and it was great to see the boys back on the field. It was a scrappy start from both teams with a number of handling errors, but it was the Ath boys who secured the better possession through their forwards.

Rhys Durlucia had a few powerful runs with forwards Joe Grabham, Morgan Hughes, Chris Crumpton and Jack Walker in support. It was Rhys who opened the scoring when he drove over from short range after good work from centres Joe Patterson and Chris Matthews.

The Ath began to control the game despite several good attacks from the home team, and the Bridgend boys managed to run out of defence. Halfbacks Rhys Gamble and Ieuan Thomas used possession well, and the Ath continued to attack at every opportunity.

They managed to free speedster Dylan Parry, who raced down the wing for a great try. The second period started well for Bridgend after the pack managed to gather the kick off, which set up a good attacking position. Backs Nathan Willis and Drew Cording ran well before the ball found its way to Chris Crumpton, who used his strength to crash over.

It wasn't long before the Ath were again on the attack. From a ruck just short of the line, Rhys Gamble gave the try scoring pass to Drew Cording,

Pentryrch never gave up and tried to move the ball through the hands but good line speed from the Ath backs put a lot of pressure on them. Loose forward Joe Grabham was a constant menace on the floor and chased the Pentryrch outside half all over the pitch.

This pressure paid off when Joe Patterson pounced on a mistake by the home side to score. The Ath then rang the changes to give the rest of the squad some action.

The new pack of Jac Bassett, Brandon Burgess, Matthew Hibbert, Iwan Osbourne and Thomas Zielinski continued to dominate and win good ball. In the backs, Callum Morgan, Cameron Lewis and Paul Teesdale added some pace to the back line.

In the third period the fresh legs paid off for the Ath as the Pentryrch boys began to tire. Strong play from Brandon and Jac secured good ball to release the backs and they passed it to Joe Patterson, who crossed for his second.

The final Ath try came from good work from Callum, who provided the platform for Jac Bassett to pick up and drive over the line. Conversions were added by Drew (five) and Cameron. This was a good performance considering the lay-off due to the weather.

Man of the match went to Ieuan Thomas, who controlled the game well from outside half, and to Matthew Hibbert for a much improved performance. Final score after three periods was Pentryrch 0, Ath 47.

Good win for Bridgend Athletic under-10s

BRIDGEND Athletic under-10s travelled to Pentryrch on a crisp Sunday morning.

The hosts got the game underway and the Ath attacked with promise. Some good driving saw Thomas Anthony gain possession and force his way over for the first try of the game. Dan O'Sullivan converted.

The Ath regained possession quickly and once again drove well to force Pentryrch back. This platform once again allowed Thomas Anthony to force his way over line to score. Connor Fabian converted.

Pentryrch defended well as the Ath kept up the attacking pressure with good backline moves and forwards driving well. Connor Fabian was next on the score sheet with good side steps to avoid the tacklers seeing him over the line. He converted to make the half time score 21-0 to the Ath.

Pentryrch got the second half, and good attacking play from the Ath saw Thomas Anthony score his third of the game with another great drive over the line. Conner kicked the conversion.

The Ath kept up the pressure and Gwilym John intercepted a Pentryrch pass to go over. Connor Fabian converted to make it 35-0. Pentryrch kept playing well and didn't let their heads drop and this was rewarded with a consolation try, which was converted to make the final score Bridgend Ath 35, Pentryrch 7.

Game 2

The second game saw both sides give a good account of themselves with good attacking play and strong defending. It was the Ath who managed to break the dead-lock with Louis King ripping well to drive over to score. Kasari Mehta converted.

Both sides cancelled each other out for the remainder of the half with both sides going close to scoring. In the second half, a great pick up and drive saw Kasari Mehta score for the Ath. He stepped up to convert the try making it 14-0 to the Ath.

The Ath kept up the pressure on the Pentryrch line with some good drives but Pentryrch were able to break over half the length of the field to score an unconverted try to bring the score back to 14-5.

From the kick off, the Ath once again drove well towards the Pentryrch line but in an almost identical manner, Pentryrch were able to break away, making it 14-12 to the Ath.

The Ath's pressure finally had its reward, when Dan O'Sullivan weaved his way over the line. Kasari Mehta slotted over the conversion to make the final score Bridgend Ath 21, Pentryrch 12.

Porthcawl outflank Tondu's power pack

ON a crisp and sunny Sunday morning, Porthcawl under-11s travelled to Aberkenfig to face a Tondu team enjoying a very successful season.

I don't know what they're feeding them in Tondu but the pack was by far the biggest the Seaweeds had faced for many a game, and it was clear from early on that if Tondu kept it tight, they were going to give the Green and Blacks a lot of problems.

However, the Blue and Reds of Tondu moved it wide every chance they had.

Porthcawl played with similar intentions and notched up the first try of the day, scored courtesy of a cheeky dummy from Joe Stradling.

Tondu, clearly annoyed at themselves for their defensive lapse, rallied and their big pack started to secure possession, but the Tondu backs were not on top form and surrendered a large percentage of their ball to the marauding Porthcawl forwards, namely: Ethan Waters, Ben Collins, Max Budding, Ben Davies, Cameron Williams and Lloyd Mortimer.

With Porthcawl putting the home side under so much pressure, it was only a matter of time before the Seaweeds scored again, and Brandon Cooper was on hand to oblige with a side-step and dive to secure Porthcawl's second score of the match.

Will Mahoney was next to claim a try when he showed real pace to score in the corner after neat passing from backs, Ben Roach, Dan Williams, Harry Nichols, Connor Harrington-Pittam and Meurny Nelson.

Tondu then hit back with a bulldozing try from their pack, which seemed their best option for success.

This was to be short lived though, as speedster Will Mahoney scored again to put the Seaweeds out of sight. Then, in the dying moments of a well-contested game, Louis Protheroe appeared to claim his customary try to round off a solid display.

All tries were converted by Brandon Cooper, with the back of the match being Ioan Clatworthy and the forward Kurtis Primrose.

Final score: Tondu 7 Porthcawl 35.

TEAM NOTCH UP 68 POINTS AS...

South Wales Police run riot against Blaengarw

SOUTH Wales Police RFC welcomed Blaengarw RFC to Waterton Cross for a National League Division Five fixture.

Blaengarw are going through a rough period in their illustrious history at present, but they are a proud club with a great valley spirit and without doubt if they continue to pull together their results will soon improve. Their commitment was something they can take into their next league fixture.

The Police opened the scoring with a Ryan Miles penalty and extended their lead with a try from Wil Alston. Miles added the extra two points. However, Blaengarw kept pushing the Police and got their first points with a well-taken penalty from outside-half Jamie Evans.

The Police started to get the upper hand and ran the ball wide on every occasion, with Karl Jones marshalling the backs brilliantly.

They ran in further tries from Jason Davies, Craig Chalmers, Gerald Hodgson, Karl Jones and second row Chris Price (a hat-trick).

Wing Lee Roderick, coming back from injury, made his first appearance for several weeks, coming off the bench in the second half to secure another hat-trick. Miles added a further five conversions.

Final score: SW Police 68, Blaengarw 3.

This will be a game that hopefully both teams can build on. Prominent for Blaengarw were prop Rob Jenkins, flanker Lloyd Burrows, No 8 Deryn Lloyd and hooker Owain James. Next week's Blaengarw take on Ogmole Valley and the Police take on Rhigos.

Athletic under-14s start new year with two wins out of two BRIDGEND Athletic under-14s made the New Year journey to Abercrave at the top of the Swansea Valley determined to improve on their poor run of form in 2010.

The six-week break due to the snow seemed to be a positive thing for the Bridgend boys, who were keen to take it to their hosts on the field with a much more committed and determined display than of old.

The Ath started well and strong runs in and around the Abercrave 22 caused the home team problems.

The first scrum was a plus for the Athletic who pushed their opponents backwards off their ball, only for it to be reset by the referee. It was that trait which continued throughout the game as the Athletic pack dominated in that area, thanks to the front row of Jack Deere, Cian House, hooker Toby Galliers, and second rows Curtis Daniel and Connor Browne.

The home side opened the scoring after 10 minutes by going through a number of phases, eventually exploiting the Ath's lack of numbers out wide for the winger to score in the corner. The try went unconverted.

Back came the Athletic who began to build good field position by keeping hold of the ball, something they had struggled to do efficiently prior to Christmas. Jack Hogan scored at the corner.

Both teams continued to probe and the home team went ahead yet again when a quality move in midfield deceived the Ath defenders for a converted try beneath the posts.

Not to be out done, the Athletic backline struck back before the break when Craig Lewis dribbled the ball over the line and pounced on it to bring the scores back to within two points, with Abercrave leading 12 - 10 at half time.

During the second half, the Bridgend boys upped their game, their dangerous backs running hard and the forwards showing great energy, probing the fringes at the breakdown, controlled well by scrum half Tom McArdle.

Outside half Harrison Evans, playing in his first game for the Athletic and centre Craig Lewis kept Abercrave pinned back inside their own half for much of the remaining game.

Stand-in hooker Galliers was held up over the line right beneath the Aber posts

Abercrave 12 Bridgend Athletic 28 and he continued to be a nuisance, carrying ball at every opportunity, as did No 8 Matthew Bennett and second row Curtis Daniel, both players getting over the gain line with good support from the other two back rowers Adam Lang and Lewys Smith, who had solid games.

Wing Ashton Chalmers came on to finish a flowing passing move across the backline to score in the corner, his fifth try of the season, before Jack Hogan got his second, again from a quality passing move using forwards and backs.

Craig Lewis slotted a penalty from the 22 and he finished off the Ath's points tally late in the game, shooting between two defenders for his brace, and the Athletic's fifth try of the day.

Captain Tom Pritchard made a number of determined runs, and Shane Howells, Ollie Davies, Rory Nicholls and Callum Matthews all gave committed performances.

There were excellent debuts from Harrison Evans, who looked very comfortable and composed playing at 10, and from Jack Laesser who slotted into the pack well during the second half.

Congratulations to all of the Ath boys on a much improved performance, and one which players and coaches can continue to build on throughout 2011.

Many thanks to Paul and his boys for giving us a strong and competitive game and to Lyndsey for refereeing very well, and we look forward to the visit of Abercrave to Newbridge Fields later on in the season.

Bridgend Athletic under-14s 21 Pentrych 17
BRIDGEND Athletic were looking to follow up on their win the previous week against Abercrave when they invited Pentrych to Newbridge Fields at the weekend.

Pentrych were finalists in the Cardiff and Vale District Tournament and had beaten the Ath convincingly at the end of last season, so a tough encounter was expected.

The Athletic pack had the upper hand in the set piece, despite the Pentrych pack looking the much bigger unit.

The visitors began to win possession and attempted to get the ball wide at every opportunity, and after only three minutes, the ball was spread from right to left for the flanker to score a converted try.

The Ath learnt from that and began to keep the ball for good periods and attacked well through a number of phases.

The pack showed good speed and the half back pairing of Tom McArdle and Harrison Evans were calm and ensured that the game was well controlled.

The Ath responded positively when the ball was fed to centre Craig Lewis, who showed good strength to break a couple of tackles to cross in the corner. The conversion was narrowly missed.

From the re-start, the Ath put pressure on the visitors. Jack Hogan was a constant threat, working hard off first phase and getting over the gainline to set a target for his forwards.

Pentrych were always a danger especially out wide but there were some bone crunching tackles coming in from Craig Lewis and from wing Ashton Chalmers to prevent the visitors gaining any kind of momentum.

Great work from the back row of Lewys Smith, Adam Lang and Matthew Bennett led to a number of tackles behind the gain line. Craig Lewis hacked onto a loose ball near the Pentrych 22 but lost out narrowly in the chase to ground the ball.

However, from the resulting 22 drop out, a number of Pentrych players were offside and Craig slotted the penalty to take the Ath into an 8 - 7 lead.

Another penalty was well taken by Harrison Evans for the Ath to take a four point lead into half time with the score at 11 - 7.

Back came the Tyrcs but again, Ath pressure led to a penalty near the Pentrych 22 which was slotted by Harrison Evans to extend the Ath's lead to seven.

The Athletic scrum continued to function superbly, with the Ath loose head Cian House causing major problems for the visitors' big front row, well backed up by the partnership of Curtis Daniel and Connor Browne.

Toby Galliers' lineup throwing was right on the money, with Matthew Bennett showing great athleticism at the front of the lineup, and on defensive line-outs Lewys Smith was constantly disrupting the Pentrych throw.

Alex Thomas came into tight head and had an impressive game, as did Jack Deere, who had started the game and anchored the scrum strongly.

The Bridgend boys continued to press and Harrison Evans took the ball into contact in mid-field. He was half tackled but continued to show the aggression and determination needed to stay on his feet as the Ath pack gathered around him and drove him over the try line near the posts for what was his first try for the club, converted by Craig Lewis.

In the back line, Jack Leyshon showed great line speed in defence and handling skills in attack, as did Ollie Davies, who came into the game at 10 during the second half and helped control matters.

Mathew Hughes came on and distributed well at nine and Rory Nicholls had a number of great clearance kicks under pressure from full back.

Up front, Callum Linehan-Burke took over from Toby Galliers at hooker and found his targets well and Jack Laesser made a number of very important tackles late in the game after he replaced Connor Browne at second row.

As the game drew to a close, a couple of yellow cards were dished out for both sides which the visitors duly capitalised on to score at the corner, and just before the final whistle, the Pentrych prop stole a ball from a ruck on the Ath five-metre line from right under the nose of the referee and rumbled over to score a third Pentrych try.

The conversion hit the upright as the final whistle blew, which marked an extremely hard earned and deserved victory for the Athletic boys - their first win at Newbridge Fields this season. Congratulations to all of the players involved.

Thanks to Dave, the coaches and the Pentrych boys and good luck to them for the remainder of the season - we hope to visit Pentrych during the under-15 season starting in September.

ADVERTISING IN THE GEM WORKS!

Many of our advertisers have used The GEM for years. This speaks volumes. Some are lucky enough to have a great response by placing just one advert, but series advertising reaps regular business...

TESTIMONIAL
'Start Afresh'
Cleaning Services

Following on from placing my first advert in The GEM I thought you may like to know that I've had a great response!

I received lots of initial enquiries from Llantwit Major and Barry which converted into 6 jobs within the first 2 days of The GEM being printed and I was still receiving calls up to a week later!

Thank you again for your assistance and advice which is invaluable for a new business.

GEM Family Notices

Family Notices

FERRER Vyvyan John

Peacefully on December 26th at his home in Barry after a long illness, Vyv aged 82 years (Retired Physics Teacher, Barry Comprehensive).

Beloved husband of Valerie, a loving father, father in law, grandfather and great grandfather.

Resting at the private funeral home of W. Spickett & Son, 181 Court Road, Barry until the funeral on Tuesday January 18th. Service and committal at 3.45 p.m. in the chapel at Coychurch Crematorium, Bridgend (where friends please meet).

Family flowers only, donations if desired may be sent to Cancer Research (Wales) Velindre Hospital, Whitchurch, Cardiff CF14 2TL.

JOAN LESLEY JONES (Les)

Very suddenly on January 4th at home Lesley passed away, she was a lovely mother to Linda and Paul, and a proud grandmother to Sophie, Jenny, William, Oliver, Celyn and Charlie. She will be sadly missed and always loved. Funeral at Coychurch Crematorium, Bridgend on Friday 21st January at 1.15pm.

WALLIS

Peter Ransome D'Arcy

Peacefully on 3 January 2011, aged 87. Much loved and missed. Mass at Our Lady & St Iltyd Church, Llantwit Major 19 January 10.30am, then burial at Bodmin New Cemetery 20 January, 2pm. Family flowers only. Donations please to British Heart Foundation. All enquiries to W.A. Brown & Son, College Street, Llantwit Major.

DANIELS Beverley

Sons Mike and Jeff and mother Moira wish to thank family, friends, neighbours and work colleagues for attending Beverley's funeral and for the many messages of sympathy that we have received. Special thanks to the district nurses for the wonderful care that they provided. Also to Linda, Delyth and Rhian for their loving words spoken at the service. All donations made to the Velindre Trust were greatly appreciated.

JANET LEGG

The Mayor, Cllr Len Taylor, expresses his thanks for the messages of sympathy he has received following the death of the Mayoress, Mrs Janet Legg (The GEM, January 6, 2011). On behalf of Janet's daughter Claire, son Russell and all the family, he also sends thanks for the many condolences they received, for the support at the funeral service celebrating Janet's life, and for the donations to Leukaemia Research.

JENKINS Glady's

Widow of Bill, formerly of Pontalun Close, Barry. Passed away peacefully on January 7, aged 104. Will be missed by all who knew and loved her. Funeral at Croesycellio Crematorium, Cwmbran, January 25 at 3.45pm. Family flowers.

*My Life goes on without you
But nothing is the same
I have to hide my heartache
When someone speaks your name*
Your Dearly Loving Wife, Gwyneth

Thank You

A heartfelt Davies thank you...

Julian, Della, Simon and Tom Davies would like to say a very big 'thank you' to Mo, Miz and the team at The Raj Kinara, Rhosce, for making their 25th wedding anniversary such a special evening.

As always, the service and the food were exquisite and your efforts were very much appreciated.

GRAY

After a short illness, Paul of Llantwit Major. Dearly loved husband of the late Lorna, and loving father to Anne. He will be sadly missed by family and friends alike. Funeral service on Friday, 28th January, 2011 in St Cadocs Church, Llanfarcen at 10.15am followed by cremation at Coychurch Crematorium at 11.30am.

Family flowers only, but donations may be made to the Royal British Legion (cheques only) c/o the Funeral Director, W. A. Brown & Son, College Street, Llantwit Major.

Congratulations

Branch catches up on the news

THE first meeting of 2011 was a happy occasion when members were able to meet after the long break to catch up with all the news.

President Eira opened the meeting by wishing everyone a happy and healthy 2011. She apologised for cancelling the December meeting because of the ice and snow; it would have been irresponsible to put members at risk of falling.

Because the meeting was to be followed by a '12th night party', the correspondence and courses were quickly mentioned and put out to be read by interested members.

There was a discussion of the resolutions to be sent in for the 2011 NFWM AGM. It was a difficult choice to make, but most votes were given to urge the Government to support funding of research and development of natural galantamine for the treatment of Alzheimer's type dementia.

The overall winner of the 2010 monthly competition was Alma Sterritt and the overall winner of the 'bloom of the month' competition was Julia Jenkin.

The party followed with a light-hearted quiz and bingo, while the party food was being prepared. May Davies thanked the committee for all their hard work and the tasty food.

The next meeting will be on February 3 with a talk on the Tiller Girls by Pat Stewart. The competition will be a decorated fan and the stall, unwanted jewellery. New members will be warmly welcomed.

Minister opens dementia clinic

Health Minister Edwina Hart AM on Monday officially opened a new mental health unit at Glangrhyd Hospital, Bridgend.

An Assembly spokesman explained that Angelon Clinic is one element of the plan to modernise mental health services in Bridgend, providing 42 beds for older people with dementia on the Glangrhyd Hospital site.

It has been designed to provide greater privacy and dignity for patients and their families.

Accommodation includes private bedrooms with en-suite facilities, shared spaces (living room, TV lounge, dining room) and therapeutic areas.

The clinic will replace out-dated inpatient accommodation at Glangrhyd and Maesgwyn Hospitals. Patients will transfer to the modern, purpose-built inpatient facilities.

Mrs Hart said: "The challenge dementia poses in Wales is significant but a considerable amount of work is under way to improve dementia services. This centre is an example of the commitment shown by the NHS in Wales to deliver real change to those diagnosed with dementia and their carers."

Action from the under-14s game

THIS week saw Cowbridge under-14s visiting Pencoed, which was a first for this group of players.

For the first five minutes Pencoed dominated possession with Cowbridge struggling to get their hands on the ball. However, good work on the floor from Jac Roberts, Sam Corkill and Cameron Roy saw the Cowbridge back line able to test their opponents.

After a series of drives from Dan Taylor, Ellis Simon and Morgan Gore the ball was fed to Rhys Bradshaw, who opened the Cowbridge account, with a conversion from Jake Griffiths adding the extras.

Bevan Howells stormed over for a try, once again converted, and Cowbridge were now in the ascendancy.

Cowbridge were camped in the Pencoed half and Bevan Howells added the third score, converted by Evan Williams.

It was all change for the second half, however, and Pencoed would dominate this period of play. Despite stout defence from Dan Marshall, Tom Jose, Angus James, William Davies, Oliver Reynolds and Dylan Cottle, Pencoed recorded two unanswered tries to narrow the scoreboard.

Once again the line up was shuffled for the final third and Cowbridge would proceed to dominate the action. They had the upper hand from front, allowing their talented back line the space to test their opposite numbers.

As Cowbridge forced play close to the Pencoed line, Ioan Lewis darted over for the next score, converted by Jake Griffiths.

Bevan Howells attacked the blind side and added the next score, converted by Morgan Gore. Once again Cowbridge applied the pressure and Jake Griffiths pounced to add the final try of the match, converted by Evan Williams.

Final score - Pencoed 21 Cowbridge 42.

COWBRIDGE MINI AND JUNIOR RUGBY ROUND-UP

Cowbridge under-14s earn win over Pencoed

Many thanks to all the players, parents and coaches from Pencoed, for their part in an excellent morning of rugby.

Under 12s - Rumney (home)

Cowbridge entertained long standing rivals Rumney and after a hard fought and enjoyable game pulled off a well deserved win scoring three tries to their opponents nil.

Both teams settled in quickly but the heavier Rumney pack began to provide good possession for their backs. Stout defence by the home side prevented the visitors from establishing an advantage and brave tackling from Matthew Keating, Charlie Martin and Sean Davies helped Cowbridge to weather the storm.

They opened the scoring when Harry Hopkins forced his way over the line and Cai Evans converted. For the remainder of the half the territorial battle swayed back and forth but there was no further scoring.

The second half began in a similar vein to the first, with the Rumney forwards driving hard into the opposing half but quick turn overs by the Cowbridge forwards allowed their backs to create a number of breaks.

Toff Patel, James Holder and Michael Thomas forced their way close to the Rumney line but the visitors hung on.

Cowbridge finally scored the second try that had eluded them for so long when scrum half Osian John released the ball to centre Rhys Beynon, who scored in the corner.

Cowbridge's third try soon followed and was probably their best of the season so far. A thirty metre run by Dan Bunney led to a ruck on the left hand side of the field. The ball then travelled through seven pairs of hands before wing Harrison Stevens crossed in the right hand corner to make the game safe.

Cowbridge made a number of changes, including newcomer Will Cousins, who acquitted himself well. The game ended with Cowbridge dominating all aspects of play and well deserving of their 17 points to nil victory.

Outstanding in their pack were Duncan Ace, Ben Terry and James Waters whilst Cai Evans controlled the game well from outside half.

Under 13s - Rumney (home)

Cowbridge under-13s put in a spirited performance against Rumney RFC.

Rumney scored a converted try to take an early lead; however, the Cowbridge pack started to crank up the pressure, enabling the backs to show their attacking prowess, ably led by captain Matt Harper. The Cowbridge pack was really taking command and Tom Evans and George Thomas led by example throughout the whole game.

Cowbridge's flying wingers Tom Trotman (three tries) and Nathan Robson put points on the board with the ball being passed beautifully through the backs to create the opportunities.

Rumney hit back with a last minute try that was thoroughly deserved and reflected their spirit throughout the whole game.

L L A N T W I T MAJOR ABC travelled to the Elthorne Sports Centre, Hanswell, London W7 on Saturday, January 8.

Stacey Dixon, the daughter of coach and matchmaker Mickey Dixon, boxed Andriana Blunstone of Hanwell School.

The first round saw the Llantwit Major Comprehensive fifth form girl use her reach advantage to good effect.

In the second Stacey did much the same but more accurate with her blows that caught the eye of the judges at ringside.

The Hanwell boxer realised that she was behind on points going into the third and final round, and started off at a fast pace. Stacey did well to keep her at bay scoring well with both hands.

At the end of the of the contest Stacey caught Andriana with a hard right to the head, and as the referee was just about to administer a mandatory standing count, the final bell sounded.

The referee congratulated both young ladies on a good contest but Stacey was declared the winner by a clear points decision.

If you are interested in boxing and would like more information about our club contact Tony Meakin 01446796784 or Mikey Dixon on 07970394966.

Vale trainer's Wincanton winner

LLANCARFAN'S Evan Williams landed the opener (novices' hurdle handicap division one) at Wincanton on Saturday with his six-year-old bay gelding Buck Mulligan who, ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney, came home eight lengths clear of the Paul Nicholls trained Round Tom.

Buck Mulligan, an 8-1 chance, was running for the first time in 265 days.

BL

TOM HARVEY has acknowledged that he still has plenty to learn as he graduates to a higher level and prepares to make his debut on the European stage in 2011.

He will nonetheless be 'pushing absolutely to the limit' in a quest to 'do some spectacular things' over the course of the year ahead.

Tom has already proven himself as one of the country's most promising young talents by storming to the British crown in the Comer Cadet class of the Super 1 Series in 2010 - as well as securing an excellent third place in the title standings of fellow national championship Formula Kart Stars (FKS). But as he now takes the step-up to KF3 as one of the very youngest drivers in the field, the highly-rated young South Wales speed demon recognises that he has a real challenge on his hands.

With more than half as much power again at his disposal to what he has been used to before, the 13-year-old is palpably his new TonyKart mount, whose speed he describes as 'just amazing'.

Although his testing schedule hit a bit of a setback before Christmas due to illness, he has rapidly been playing catch-up, and at PF International he lapped a scant 15 hundredths of a second shy of the benchmark - and quicker than some far more experienced campaigners.

That kind of form is tremendously encouraging as Tom looks to build upon his early progress and really come out-of-the-blocks fighting at the start of the season, when the serious stuff begins.

With Williams Motorsport, the Bonvillston-based hotshot is confident he could be in no better place as he embarks upon his learning curve.

Not only does the team's reputation precede it, but having engineered Newport ace Jordan Chamberlain to European and British Championship glory in 2009, and the runner-up laurels in the World Championship in 2010, Williams clearly has a history of getting results with Welsh drivers. As omens go, there could be far worse.

"It's a team that is well-known for bringing drivers on and has an excellent record of success," Tom, a Cowbridge Comprehensive pupil, enthused.

"We've been working together for a couple of months now preparing for the season ahead, and we get on really well."

"The kart actually doesn't feel that different to a Cadet - it's mainly the increase in speed in KF3, and particularly the middle-end power of the engine that really pulls you through corners and you've just got to hang on! That really hurts your neck muscles, and you need to keep your arms locked, too - if you hit a bump, you've got to stay straight to keep the kart pointing in the right direction."

"My physical strength is one aspect that I know I need to work on before the season starts. At the moment I can do 20 or 25 laps non-stop, but it will be tough in the heat of a summer's day... It will take a bit more testing to build my stamina up to where it needs to be. I'm not ready yet - I can do the lap times, but in a race situation I would be lagging towards the end - but I will be ready."

"There's another KF3 driver in the team with a year's experience in the class already, so I need to work hard to catch up and get onto his pace and then beat him. I want to be the number one inside the team, like every driver does. I want to be pushing absolutely to the limit, doing some spectacular things and really getting my name out there."

CADOXTON TAE KWON DO's 'GRAND CHAMPIONS' GLUT

THE Cadoxton schools of Tae Kwon Do attended the final grand prix tournament in a series of six hosted by Mal Johns of WOMAA.

Points are awarded to the first four places in all categories entered, resulting in a series grand champion at the end of the year.

The first category was the pattern sections. Thomas Haysham and Lucy Newman got the club off to a good start by taking second and third places.

Once the pattern categories were completed, the sparring categories began, with the Cadoxton school being represented in most categories.

On the day, successful in their respective categories were: Matthew Bennett, second in point and third in continuous sparring; Liam Rees, first in continuous and second in point sparring; Bradley Halford, first in point sparring; Jamie Halford, first in continuous and third in point sparring; Morganne Gomez Jones, first in both the point and continuous sparring; Dominic Todd, first in point and second in continuous sparring; Ollie Tipples, first in point and second in continuous ous sparring; Charlotte Sullivan, third in point sparring; Lucy Newman, second in point, second in continuous sparring and second in the pattern sections; Morgan Harry, second in continuous sparring; Hayley Matthey, third in point sparring; Thomas Haysham, first in point and first in continuous sparring, second in patterns.

At the end, the points were added up from the previous six tournaments with the Cadoxton School finishing top overall with 15 grand champions and nine runner up positions. 2010 WOMAA Grand champions are as follows:

Matthew Bennett, grand champion in points and continuous sparring; Jamie Halford, grand champion in points and continuous sparring; Dominic Todd, grand champion in points and continuous sparring; Liam Rees, grand champion in continuous sparring, runner up in point sparring; Ollie Tipples, grand champion in point sparring, runner up in continuous sparring; Thomas Haysham, grand champion in continuous sparring, runner up in point sparring and the pattern section; Hayley Matthey, grand champion in point sparring; Thomas Haysham, grand champion in point sparring, runner up in continuous sparring and patterns; Lucy Newman, losing out on the last day ended up as runner up in the point and continuous sparring and pattern sections; Bradley Halford, grand champion in points and continuous sparring.

Throughout the year, Bradley competed in a higher category and finished as runner up.

Charlotte Sullivan, grand champion in point sparring was awarded the WOMAA competitor of the year.

Morganne Gomez Jones, grand champion in continuous sparring, was runner up in point sparring and was awarded the WOMAA student of the year.

'Jekyll and Hyde' Llantwit Major hold their nerve for win

LLANTWIT Major Reserves maintained their position as league leaders with a real Jekyll and Hyde display.

The first half saw the Major way below par, in contrast in the second period, when they were at times unplayable.

Llantwit, playing their first game for nearly a month due to the recent inclement weather and no fixtures over the festive period, were hoping to start brightly.

This was not to be the case as Cadoxton started much more the eager of the two sides, playing some good football.

The visitors deservedly took the lead after 10 minutes with a well-taken goal despite a hint of offside.

The home team found themselves level 10 minutes later, when the ball fell to Jason Fairchild. The veteran midfielder's goal-bound effort found the net with the help of a slight deflection.

The remainder of the first period petered out into a dull, scrappy affair with neither team creating much in the way of goal-scoring chances.

A few choice words from managers Callard and Grafton during the interval had the desired effect.

Llantwit began the second half with a vigour and desire that was lacking in the opening 45 minutes and blew their opponents away with a 15-minute spell of football that was worthy of a higher stage.

The rejuvenated Stephen Phillips notched the home teams second on 50 minutes, taking his tally to three goals in two games, the big No 9's determination was rewarded as he prodded home.

Phillips then turned provider for strike partner Dom White on 55 minutes, squaring the ball after tenacious work for White to stroke the ball into the gaping net.

The fourth came on the hour mark, Fairchild securing his brace with a powerful drive from 20 yards out after good team play involving Bright, Thomas, Phillips, White and Grafton.

The visitors added their second with 20 minutes remaining, the full-back rifling the ball past the unexercised Callard in the Major goal.

There were a few nervous moments five minutes later as Llantwit defender Owen Morris sent a bullet header nestling into the corner of his own net to give the visitors their third.

Llantwit, confident in their own ability, didn't panic, continuing to play free flowing football and creating chances.

Within minutes, Bright thumped home from the edge of the box for the fifth to get the goal his fine display warranted.

The Major saved the best until last, substitute Joel Preece scoring with a rasping drive with just five minutes remaining, again the goal coming after some superb passing and movement throughout the team.

Man of the match was awarded to Jason Fairchild, who didn't waste a single pass, battled well and scored two fine goals.

Llantwit team: D Callard 6, O Morris 6, D Major (Capt) 7, J Grahame 7, J Thomas 7, G Jennings 7, P Grafton 7, J Fairchild 8, C Bright 7, D White 7, S Phillips 7. Subs: T Howles, D Lansdown, J Preece, R Grapes.

34th Welsh Schools Inter Schools Cross-Country Championships, Penlan, Brecon

Vale girls outshine the boys at year's last fixture

THE Vale girls outshone the boys at the last major schools' cross-country fixture of the term - the 34th Welsh Schools' Inter Schools Championships, held for the 10th year at the Penlan arena at Brecon.

On a damp afternoon, with a biting cold north east breeze, the girls gained three sets of team medals, plus an individual top three placing, while the boys went away empty-handed.

In the opening event of the six race programme - for under-13 girls in years 7 and 8 - Cowbridge year-7 Seren Allin underlined her fitness and confidence level by tracking the runaway winner, Rosa Yates (Brynteg, year-8), to take third place in a field of nearly 100 finishers, a performance which sets her up nicely for the major competitions after Christmas.

Backing Seren were three year-8 pupils, Rebecca Thomas (24th), Ela Emyr (38th) and Brooke Langdon-Cryer (65th), with the team score of 130 proving good enough to take second place medals.

In addition to the Cowbridge contingent, it was a delight to see a significant Stanwell squad taking part, with year-8 Ana Mirza-Davies (23rd) leading her A squad to fourth place.

There was an unexpected outcome in the third race - for girls in years 9 and 10. Year-10 Megan Osborne (Llantwit) has always been in control of her Cardiff and the Vale Schools rivals and team-mates in age group races in the past but here, in a top quality field, she was knocked off top spot by Kate Coker (Stanwell, year-9).

Kate had a real confidence-boosting run to finish fourth with Megan, in seventh place, gaining some compensation by leading the Llantwit team - Erin Hayes (17th), Lucy Tarrant (19th) and Ellie Atkinson (53rd) - to the second place medals. Both Kate and Megan will be looking for even better performances in the second half of the winter cross-country programme.

In the senior girls' race, year-12 Bethan Daw was the leading Vale finisher, taking a very creditable eighth place.

2009 was the first time in 10 years that Cowbridge had failed to take gold team medals in at least one age group at this event. After that blip, the Vale school was back to winning ways thanks to its year-11 team squad in the penultimate race of the day - for senior girls.

Although the first scorer to finish - Fiona Bray - was no higher than 16th, the team packed very well with Rachel Bradshaw (20th), Katie Wynne (22nd) and Bethan Allman (25th) chalking up a winning score of 83 points.

The top performance by a Vale boy came from Rian Thomas in the under-13 race. The year-8 pupil finished a very creditable 10th in the biggest field of the day - 105 finishers - and led his team - Dewi and Huw Bennett and Alex Love - to fourth place.

Year-11 Matthew Edwards (Barry Comprehensive) had been unwell before the event, and perhaps should not have competed. To his credit, he gave it a good go in a high quality field, but had to settle for 14th place.

One of the Vale boys who should have left the event feeling happy was Dafydd George. The Bro Morgannwg year-9, at the bottom end of the age group, again underlined his potential with a fine run in the under-15 race to take 15th place against more experienced boys.

More than 400 pupils made the long journey from all corners of Wales to compete, and the chairman of the Welsh Schools association - former Llantwit PE teacher Mrs Kath Elias - has asked that special thanks should be recorded to those schools like Cowbridge, Llantwit and Stanwell, who brought scoring teams to the event.

With the pre-Christmas schools programme now completed, many of the leading Vale runners who took part at Brecon can now start preparing and training to represent Cardiff and the Vale Schools at the Schools Invitation Inter-County & Inter District match, to be held within the McCain Cardiff Cross

Kate Coker (Stanwell, 226) and Megan Osborne (Llantwit, 466) the top Vale pupils in the under-16 girls race.

ENTERPRISING BACKS TIP THE BALANCE FOR BRIDGEND ATHLETIC

AFTER a long lay-off from league rugby due to the inclement weather, the Christmas and New Year holidays and SWALEC Cup ties, it was a welcome return to a full Division One West programme for players and supporters alike.

The two Athletics had battled out an exciting encounter in September at Bridgend where they shared 62 points, and both sets of supporters were looking for a similar feast in this first match of 2011.

The visitors kicked off and within seconds, fly-half Steve Lewis had an opportunity to open the scoring with a long range penalty five metres in from touch and on Carmarthen's 10-metre line, but his kick fell just under the bar.

Following the drop-out, the home side secured possession and began to follow a pattern of hard driving play that had served them so well on their visit to Newbridge Fields. It wasn't pretty, but it was pretty effective at forcing back the Bridgend Athletic defensive line, despite excellent tackling, marshalled by captain Sean Williams and epitomised by the work of props Matthew Norman and Rod Apsee and veteran centre Stuart Morris.

This pressure paid off when scrum-half Tom Davies was harshly penalised for holding on in the tackle and the experienced full-back Ricky Williams sent his penalty kick sailing through the posts from 30 metres out.

Carmarthen dished up more of the same, but the Ath managed to win a penalty for a tackle offence and Lewis sent a touch finder to half-way. From the resulting line-out, Davies hoisted a high kick which Sean Williams was first to reach.

His tap back bounced into the arms of right wing Lindsay MacCausland, who made ground quickly down the wing before wrong-footing the defence with a pass inside for supporting centre Rob Coles to gallop over under the posts for a try, somewhat against the run of play, converted by Lewis.

The home side continued in similar vein and when Ath wing Lloyd Pemberton was caught in possession, Carmarthen took play to the visitors' try line, only for further determined defensive work by Matthew Hillman and Jonny Stoker to deny any chance of a score.

It was now the Ewenny Road boys turn to attack and this they did effectively by driving down the left with some good interpassing by forwards and backs alike, before the ball was spun into mid-field.

Quick ruck ball was won twice and when the ball reached No 8 Tom Penry-Ellis, he showed a neat little dummy before crashing over. This try Lewis was unable to convert.

There was much more to-ing and fro-ing in the play now, although Carmarthen continued to dominate possession but without a cutting edge. This was not the case for the visitors, and they counter-attacked through Pemberton and Williams before MacCausland committed defenders and found Morris steaming up on his inside to take a scoring pass.

Lewis's conversion put Bridgend Athletic 16 points ahead. Carmarthen hit back immediately as they pulled the Bridgend Ath defence, first to the right then stretched them left.

When their left-wing received the ball 30 metres out, there seemed to be no danger but he showed great strength and persistence to break some albeit weak tackles to eventually wriggle over for an unconverted try to reduce the arrears.

The visitors exerted more pressure from the kick-off and hooker Simon Mustoe charged down the fly-half's kick out of defence.

Mustoe chased the rebound and his determination won a ruck under the Carmarthen posts for quick-thinking flanker Hillman to dive over for a converted try that gave the Bridgend side a bonus point and a handsome lead at half-time.

As is often the case in such a situation, a degree of complacency set in after the break and Carmarthen emerged from the dressing room with a totally different philosophy.

Now they moved the ball to their backs whose strong running broke the Ath defensive line on numerous occasions and very quickly reduced the arrears to eight points following a try for each of their wings. Fortunately, neither conversion was added and the Bridgend side remained two scores ahead.

The home team were full of vim and vigour and continued to pound the Athletic defence, which had by now regained some of their previous strength of purpose and with seconds ticking away the home team managed a well-deserved fourth try of their own to earn two points from the defeat.

Next week, Bridgend Ravens are the visitors to Newbridge Fields and they bring an undefeated record. The Athletic will be out to avenge October's close defeat but know they are going to be at their very best if they are going to be the first to lower the Ravens colours this season.

PLYLE AND KENFIG GOLF CLUB, LADIES SECTION

Second time around for captain Liz

LAST November was a proud moment for Elizabeth Atwood, when she was elected lady captain of Pyle and Kenfig Golf Club for the second time.

It has been 30 years since she was last in this position.

Since 1980, Liz has continued to support Pyle and Kenfig, although she played less golf while her grandson was in primary school, and needless to say Margaret Wood, the immediate past lady captain was thrilled when Elizabeth agreed to undertake active committee duties.

Liz was a keen and very talented golfer as a teenager. She was club champion first when she was 15 but this was followed on a further 12 occasions.

The ladies section will benefit from her past experiences as an expert golfer, coupled with her committee experiences.

The new committee officers elected were vice captain Teri Ward, secretary Alison Evans, treasurer Liz Tantom, and handicap secretary Alison Hurry.

Kenfig Hill rugby round-up First team shake off the cobwebs with Caerphilly friendly KENFIG Hill had to defer their league game because Morriston had to play a cup fixture so they arranged a friendly away to Caerphilly.

It was a fast-paced entertaining game where the Mules did show their lack of recent game time, losing narrowly by 22 points to 27 against the higher league opposition.

Both Owen Davies and Lewis Morgan played well in the backs and the Mules forwards played well as a unit. It was pleasing to see Scott Waller back after a lengthy injury lay off.

The Kenfig Hill scorers were Lewis Morgan, Owen Davies and Tom Briggs who each scored tries and Nicky Giles, who converted two tries and added a penalty.

SECONDS IN FORM

Kenfig Hill
Seconds 36

Pencoed Seconds 8
THE Seconds successfully carried on with their unbeaten run with another well deserved victory over a strong Pencoed XV at the home of the Mules.

The Mules scored first following a powerful forward drive with No 8 Matthew Bater claiming the touchdown. The try was converted by outside half Matthew Tossell, who added a penalty to give the Mules a 10 - 0 lead.

Pencoed struck back with an excellent long range try that was unconverted, but they added a penalty to leave the match evenly balanced at half time, with the score 10 - 8 to the Mules.

In the second half the Mules went up a gear and scored a further four tries, the first of which was a carbon copy forward drive, with No 8 Bater again claiming the touchdown.

Playmaker Tossell then scored a try himself, which was quickly followed by a fine try by winger Chris Jenkins following some excellent counter attacking rugby.

The final move of the match saw fullback Scott Hancock score with a close range try.

Players who deserve a mention are scrum half Ryan Giles, who kicked intelligently and provided Tossell with a quality service throughout the game and No 8 Bater who was a constant thorn in the Pencoed defence with his marauding runs.

But the coaches man of the match was Steve Smith, who impressed for 80 minutes with his hard work in the tight.

Also a special mention for referee Adam Hawkins, whose sympathetic control of the game ensured that both teams could play attacking rugby.

Briton Ferry 25
Cornelly/Kenfig Hill 17

The youth played well against a strong Briton Ferry side and gave the opposition a run for their money, with Ferry scoring a try in the dying seconds of the game to seal victory.

The scorers for Kenfig Hill were Adam Lloyd with a try, Connor O'Connell with two, and Lloyd Bradley with a conversion.

This was a solid team performance by the youth with Curtis Kerton, Callum Wilmott, Tom Lodwig, Lee Arrowsmith, Ross Cooper and Connor O'Connor all playing particularly well.

ON AND OFF THE TURF with Brian Lee

'HAVE saddle, will travel,' is the motto of Tom David, who last week landed the Victor Chandler.com Juvenile Hurdle at Ayr on Mary Findlay's four-year-old First Fandango which is trained by Tim Vaughan at Aberthyn.

In an exciting finish, the 5-4 favourite held on to win by a head from Vosges.

Handicap Chase.

The 10-year-old was winning for the first time since 2008 and went off the 15-8 favourite.

Williams had plenty to smile about at Ffos Las where he saddled a double with Oscar GoGo and Pilgreen. The former, ridden by Adam Wedge, had four lengths to spare over the Tim Vaughan trained BetABob in the handicap chase and the latter beat Master Fiddle by two lengths in the maiden hurdle.

Confidently ridden by Paul Moloney, Pilgreen was backed from 8-1 to 7-2 to land some nice bets.
